House Committee Votes $1.4 Billion For Missiles

Amount More
Than President
Had Requested

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The first payment on the new U.S. missile program, a $1,410,000,000 fund for space age weapons and defenses, was approved by the House Appropriations Committee today.

Action came within two weeks after President Eisenhower asked Congress for more money for missile development and related projects in the fiscal year ending next June 30.

The 50-man appropriations group okayed the full $1,260,000,000 in new cash the President asked for. It also approved Eisenhower's request for authority to transfer 110 million in funds now available, and added 40 million to this amount.

Extra Funds For Army

All of the 40 million would be for the Army, half of it to develop a solid-fuel successor to the Army's 200-mile Redstone missile.

The House will consider the committee's action Wednesday. There are indications that even more money may be put into the bill before it is sent to the Senate.

This supplemental appropriation is distinct from the 40-billion-dollar defense budget proposed for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The committee said the funds in the emergency measure should be considered an installment on the appropriation for fiscal 1959.

It noted that some missile programs had advanced more rapidly than was expected, and that procurement orders planned originally for the 1959 program could be placed immediately if the money is made available.

Testimony Released

The House Armed Services Committee today released a security-censored version of testimony which threw some new light on the U.S. missile effort.

It came from Brig. Gen. A. W. Betts who is assistant to the missiles director, William Holaday, in the Defense Department. Betts told the committee the Soviet Union probably does not have as efficient a hydrogen bomb as this country.

There was testimony at a closed session last Friday that American work on long-range missiles moved slowly before 1953 because hydrogen warheads until then were too big to be fired over long distances.

House Debates Debt Lid Boost

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The House listened today to a series of criticisms of the proposed five-billion-dollar boost in the national debt limit.

However, even critics agreed that the boost — from the present 275 billion dollars to 280 billion — would be voted. One move aimed at holding the increase to three billion was shouted down.

Secretary of the Treasury Anderson has asked for the increase because, he said, cash balances had grown low and the Treasury needed "elbow room." He cited increased defense spending as a factor.

Also, Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, urged his fellow party members today "not to put our own administration in a strait-jacket" by refusing to approve the increase.

Rep. Muller (D-NY) recalled that "candidate" Eisenhower in 1952 and again in 1956 told the nation that the debt must be reduced.

Strike Erupts Into Violence; Buses Stoned

Government Calls
Out Troops, Orders
Curfew Into Effect

CARACAS, Venezuela, Jan. 21 (AP)—Fighting erupted in Caracas today with the start of a general strike against the regime of President Marcos Perez Jimenez.

Shooting was heard in several parts of the city. There were reports many persons were injured, but these accounts could not be confirmed.

Reports reaching Washington said 20 persons were killed and 100 injured in street riots in Caracas, and 1,000 were arrested. They said the fighting occurred in a workers' area in an old section of the capital.

Censorship Invoked

(Rigid censorship in force in Venezuela held up direct word of the extent of the strike and accompanying violence.)

(A Venezuelan government radio broadcast heard in neighboring Colombia said the Perez Jimenez regime had hit back at its opposition with a 6 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew and orders to its soldiers to shoot at any element trying in any way to damage property. Troops began patrolling Caracas at 6 p.m.)

Police Use Tear Gas

Business places in Caracas began closing their doors at noon and crowds gathered in the main square, taunting police and shouting anti-government slogans. Buses were stoned by crowds.

The police, heavily armed, moved against the demonstrators with tear gas to clear the square. The call for a general strike was issued by an underground organization calling itself the Patriotic Military Junta. Its appeal was aimed at forcing out Perez Jimenez or at least gaining a voice in the government for the political opposition.

Trading Stamps Not Securities

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Trading stamps redeemable for cash or merchandise are no more securities than are street car tokens or box tops, the Securities and Exchange commission ruled today, and therefore are not subject to SEC regulation.

The commission rejected a petition of the Food Industry Alliance that SEC consider trading stamps to be securities like stocks or bonds and bring them under the registration rules which govern stock issues.

The largest stamp company, Sperry & Hutchinson, contested the proposal and won a favorable ruling from SEC's general counsel. The commission today concurred in its lawyer's finding.

The alliance contended that a trading stamp, given to a customer who may redeem it for merchandise or cash, is an evidence of indebtedness made subject to regulation by the Securities and Exchange Act.

Housewife Kills Her Three Children, Self

HIBBING, Minn., Jan. 21 (AP)—A housewife shot and killed her three children as they lay in bed today and then took her own life in the family's cottage at Side Lake, 23 miles north of Ray.

Deputy Sheriff Ray McDermott said the mother, Mrs. Fred Lautizi, 30, wife of a construction worker, left a pencilled note detailing an emotional illness and saying she wanted to do away with her family because of it.

Found in their bed, all shot through the head, were the bodies of the Lautizi's children, Marlys, 7; Robert John, 5; and Donna Rae, 4.

A few feet away, lying in a doorway room was Mrs. Lautizi's body.

Defense atty. John A. Cost conceded Miss Soule killed Miss Elvins. But he argued his client has a diseased mind.

The state demanded a first degree murder conviction on the ground Miss Soule killed Kit because she was jealous of her victim's money and superior education.

Miss Elvins was beaten with a flat iron and stabbed repeatedly with a butcher knife last July 24 in the apartment the girls shared at Burlingame.

Miss Soule's mother, Mrs. Freda Soule, of Freeport, N.Y., rushed to her daughter's side and kissed her as the jury filed out.

Family Outing

Mrs. Virginia Huston, Bellingham, Wash., and her family enjoy sights along New York's Park Avenue after she was honored yesterday as the 1958 Polio Mother of the Year. Accompanying her are husband, Dewey, and their sons, Michael, 5, and Jonathan, 9 months. Mrs. Huston was still confined to an iron lung when Michael was born in 1952, a month after she was stricken with paralytic polio. She now runs her home from a wheelchair.

McElroy Completes Military Revamping Study Commission

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Today the Senate subcommittee heard two retired military leaders give conflicting formulas for solving the problem.

Gen. Carl Spaatz, who headed the Air Force a decade ago, urged a single chief of staff for the secretary of defense instead of the committee system.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, World War II hero and postwar chief of naval operations, testified the single chief system would be totally wrong.

Nimitz urged a simplification of the present Joint Chiefs of Staff system to eliminate the fourth member who acts as chairman. The retired admiral said the chairmanship could rotate among the three members who are the operating heads of the Army, Air Force and Navy.

Both Spaatz and Nimitz agreed that Congress should abolish many of the civilian assistant secretaries of defense, Army, Navy and Air Force. Most of these jobs were created at the urging of former Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson.

The three civilians appointed by McElroy to help him work out a reorganization program headed previous studies along that line. They are William C. Foster, former deputy secretary of defense; Charles A. Coolidge, former assistant secretary; and Nelson A. Rockefeller, chairman of the President's Advisory Committee on Government Organization.

McElroy last Wednesday named the three military consultants. They are Air Force Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; and the two retired officers who previously held that job—Gen. Omar Bradley and Adm. Arthur F. Radford.

The study, to be carried out by The Minnesota Department of Health, was announced today by Gov. Orville Freeman. To last for about five months, it will include most of the 1,400 residents at the University of Minnesota's Como Ave. housing facility.

Girl Guilty In Flat Iron Slaying Of Her Roommate

REDWOOD CITY, Calif., Jan. 21 (AP)—A Superior Court jury today convicted 20-year-old Elaine Soule of second degree murder for the flat iron and butcher knife slaying of her roommate last summer.

The five men and seven women deliberated two hours and 43 minutes. They still must try the girl to determine her plea of innocent by reason of insanity.

Miss Soule pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity to the charge of killing Catherine (Kit) Elvins, 19, of Seattle. California law requires the jury must hear separately the insanity plea.

The same jury also must set Miss Soule's punishment. A second degree murder conviction carries a minimum sentence of five years and a maximum of life imprisonment.

Brother, Sister Meet First Time

Mrs. Mary Poulston, Gary, Ind., embraces her brother, Waclov Debicki, 51, on his arrival from Poland yesterday aboard the liner America. Debicki is visiting the U.S. for a long delayed reunion with his mother, Mrs. Martin Gzik, 79, East Chicago, Ind., who did not make the trip to New York. Mrs. Poulston had never seen her older brother, who had been kidnapped as an infant by a woman hired to help his mother. She later came to America and remarried after the death of Debicki's father. Debicki was finally located but for various reasons was unable to reunite with his mother.

Minister Fails To Surrender On Riot Charge

LUMBERTON, N.C., Jan. 21 (AP)—A South Carolina minister, one of those indicted on charges of inciting a riot between Ku Klux Klansmen and Indians, failed to surrender here today as ordered.

Sheriff Malcolm McLeod said the minister now is considered a fugitive from North Carolina.

Superior Court Judge Clawson Williams signed a capias—an order for arrest—which was mailed to officers at Marion, S.C., asking that the Rev. James Cole, self-styled KKK leader, be arrested immediately and held for North Carolina police.

A copy also was sent to the state Bureau of Investigation at Raleigh, requesting that Cole be taken into custody if he appears at a scheduled Klan rally next Saturday night near Burlington, N.C., about 100 miles north of here.

The capias asks Sheriff J. Leon Gasque of Marion County, S.C., to bring Cole at once to the Robeson County sheriff's office if he waives extradition. If he does not waive, the paper asks Gasque to set up machinery for an immediate extradition hearing before South Carolina Gov. George Bell Timmerman Jr.

Cole, at his Marion, S.C., home would say only that his lawyer had advised him, "Don't do anything until you hear from me."

A horde of armed Indians, incensed by reports that the Klan's planned rally near Maxton last Saturday night was intended as a warning to them against race mixing, broke up the rally by firing into the air, roughed up the Klansmen, wrecked their rally platform and saw the Klansmen rescued by state police.

A Robeson County grand jury here yesterday indicted Cole; James Garland Martin, Reidsville, N.C., tobacco plant worker, and others allegedly of the Klan group "unknown to the state," on charges of inciting a riot.

Dag Says U.N. Best Hope For Arms Pact

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Jan. 21 (AP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold declared today the U.N. will remain in one way or another the main arena for breaking the East-West deadlock on disarmament.

He indicated he is considering a trip to Moscow for talks with the Russians, who have announced they will boycott any negotiations in the newly enlarged U.N. Disarmament Commission.

Hammarskjold made his views known at a news conference—his first since he returned from talks in London with French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau.

He said the U.N. remains the main framework for disarmament talks, and he knows of no government which has taken an opposite view.

131 Tickets Cost Scofflaw $6,550

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP)—A Long Island real estate man today was proclaimed New York's champion scofflaw. He gulped, but paid a $6,550 fine.

J. Philip Cahill, 54, pleaded guilty to ignoring 131 traffic tickets.

Chief Magistrate John Murtagh had given him until Jan. 28 to pay the record fine, figured at the maximum of $50 per ticket. The alternative was 393 days in jail.

Cahill, freed in $3,000 bail, returned to court later today with a $5,000 certified check, a $1,000 certified check, five $100 bills and a $50 personal check. He turned it all over.

Greek Judges Convict Flier

ATHENS, Greece, Jan. 21 (AP)—An American airman, defendant in a case which aroused political controversy, was convicted by a Greek court today of responsibility in the traffic death of a prominent Greek politician.

The tribunal of three Greek judges sentenced Airman 1. C. Marion Mussili of Benwood, W. Va., to 10 months in jail, but provided this would be waived on payment of a fine of about $65. In addition, Mussili was ordered to pay damages of $670.

Mussili was driving a car which fatally injured retired Gen. Stephen Saraphis, a leftist member of the Greek parliament, and seriously injured his English-born wife last March 31.

Saraphis died in a hospital. His wife, Marion, recovered. The Mussili case resembled the Girard case in Japan in that he was a member of the American armed forces implicated in the death of a national of the country in which he was stationed.

Greek national feeling was aroused over the case and communist elements attempted to take advantage of this to press the drive against presence of American soldiers in Greece.

Worst Blizzard In Years Hits Midwest Area

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 21 (AP)—A blizzard which has engulfed the Midwest for two days crept northward into the Great Lakes region tonight. Kansas City was left struggling in the wake of a 15-inch snowfall.

The Weather Bureau said the worst part of the storm extends from northeastern Missouri and southeastern Iowa through northern Illinois and across southern Michigan.

"Snow is still accumulating at a heavy rate in that area and, whipped by winds of 20-40 miles an hour, huge drifts are forming. Visibility is being reduced in some places to less than a quarter mile," the bureau reported.

Conditions west of the Mississippi River were expected to improve.

Just after sunset, the snowfall in Kansas City ended, the worst snowstorm in 28 years. The temperature was 22 degrees and winds swirled the snow into deep drifts.

Highways into the city were choked by the heavy fall. Air traffic was at a standstill.

At least six deaths in the Kansas City area were attributed to the storm.

Heavy snow fell in parts of Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska, and was piling up quickly in parts of Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and Michigan. A belt of lighter snow extended westward into New York State and was moving in on New England.

Chicago was a sea of slush by midday, with one to five inches of wet snow covering various parts of the city. Buses ran 15 to 30 minutes late on some lines. Streets were slippery.

FRB Approves Reserve Bank Discount Rate Cut

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board today approved a cut in the discount rate by the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia from 3 per cent to 2 1/2 per cent effective tomorrow.

The action was another in the series of moves in recent months to spur business activity.

The discount rate is the interest that Federal Reserve banks charge their member banks for loans. Lowering the rate makes it easier for the banks to borrow and this in turn makes it easier for them to lend money.

Although the Philadelphia bank was the only one of the 12 reserve institutions involved in today's action, the other reserve banks were expected to follow suit in a few days.

Charge U.S. Plans Mideast Atomic Bases

Warning Viewed As
Effort To Disrupt
Ankara Conference

MOSCOW, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Soviet Union said today the United States is planning to set up nuclear and missile bases in the Middle East. It warned Middle East countries such bases would be a threat to their existence and their religious shrines.

The warning was sounded at a special news conference called six days before the Baghdad Pact members open a conference at Ankara.

The timing was similar to the letters of Premier Bulganin to the heads of NATO governments just before last month's Western summit meeting in Paris. As a result the NATO meeting, called to discuss strengthening of the alliance to meet Soviet advances in long range missiles, spent a lot of time discussing Bulganin's refurbished proposals for East-West talks.

Turkey Denounced

Leonid Ilychev, the Foreign Ministry spokesman, used the news conference as a springboard for a denunciation of the Baghdad Pact and especially of Turkey, the host country for the pact meeting next week.

Turkey, he said, had taken an especially aggressive stand against Russia at the NATO meeting. Turkey is a member both of the Baghdad and NATO pacts.

He made these assertions:

1. The United States is planning to link the Baghdad Pact with the NATO alliance and the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

2. The United States, Britain and Turkey are trying to expand the Baghdad Pact militarily by bringing pressure on other Middle Eastern countries, including Lebanon and Jordan, to join the alliance.

"Insult" To Moslems

3. U.S. participation in the Baghdad Pact has the aim of uniting under one roof the aggressive military blocs of NATO, SEATO and the Baghdad Pact. . . and thus of imposing the military obligations of NATO on members of SEATO and the Baghdad Pact.

4. Establishment of nuclear and rocket bases in the Middle East in proximity to areas held sacred by all Moslems, is an insult to the religious feelings of the Moslem people.

He said Secretary of State Dulles is going to Ankara "not only in his official capacity but as a confidential agent of American oil monopolists and primarily the oil empire of the Rockefeller's."

"It is evident that Dulles has been given the task of defending to the last red cent the fat profits squeezed out of the countries of the Middle East by American monopolies," Ilychev said.

Cost Of Living Stays At Peak

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Living costs closed out 1957 at a record high, staying in December at the same peak mark they reached in November.

In reporting this today, government officials said they could hold out no hopes that the long climb in consumer prices has leveled off. They forecast a January jump in food prices, although somewhat lower costs for new cars, clothing and house furnishings.

H. E. Riley, chief of the Labor Department's living cost section, said living costs would have advanced in December, except that new car prices fell somewhat after their big climb in November when 1958 models came out.

The government living cost index for December remained unchanged at 121.6 per cent of the 1947-49 base period. This was the same as the record November figure and 3.1 per cent above December 1956.

Some detailed findings reported: New car prices had risen 11.5 per cent between October and November. As dealers began giving higher discounts on 1958 models, prices declined 2.3 per cent in December.

Clothing, mainly women's wear, also declined in December. But most other living cost elements rose. Food increased only slightly, with higher prices for meats more than offsetting lower prices for fresh fruits and eggs. The Florida crop freeze is expected to be felt heavily in higher January food prices.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Jan. 21 (AP)—A four-story building collapsed today, killing three persons and injuring three.

France Warns All Rebel Arms Ships Face Seizure

PARIS, Jan. 21 (AP)—France to the seizure "pirate action" by a day served notice on the world's maritime nations it will seize any arms cargoes in Algerian waters that appear headed for rebels fighting the French army.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman made the statement at a news conference in a defense of the seizure Saturday of 150 tons of arms and munitions from the Yugoslav ship Slovenija.

In Belgrade, the semi-official news agency YugoPress declared the French government "permitted itself to make a precedent in international relations which could have far-reaching consequences."

YugoPress did not say what the consequences might be but declared the Yugoslav government "is firm in its demand for damage and satisfaction." It called the seizure "pirate action" by a day served notice on the world's maritime nations it will seize any arms cargoes in Algerian waters that appear headed for rebels fighting the French army.

The French claimed the arms had been purchased in Czechoslovakia and were destined for the Algerian rebels via a well-known agent operating in Casablanca.

The Yugoslavs claimed the arms were consigned to Morocco for later reshipment to Yemen. Moroccan official sources claimed they knew nothing of the consignment.

The Slovenija was seized in the Mediterranean en route to Casablanca. She was taken to the Algerian port of Oran and her cargo unloaded. Later the vessel was allowed to resume its voyage.

The French met official Yugoslav protests that the seizure was made on the high seas by claiming they intercepted the ship with in the 31-mile limit they patrol as protection against gun running.

Rain Grounds Flying "Ark"

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 21 (AP)—The flood of problems which has harassed Bolivia's flying Noah's ark hasn't abated yet.

The Bolivian government's 346 is grounded by rainy weather and isn't expected to take off until early tomorrow morning.

It's carrying some 50 animals donated to the Bolivian people by church members and farmers in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Indiana.

It had radio and brake trouble in Ohio Friday and then lost its only English speaking passenger when the Rev. Allan Watson, a Bolivian missionary, received word his wife is ill. He returned to Bolivia at once via commercial airline.

The plane was further delayed because its pilot lacks night flight experience and can only fly by day.

It finally arrived here with its horses, bulls, sheep, hogs, goats, rabbits and chickens but has made no further progress.

Airport officials said the plane is not equipped to fly in bad weather and must await good visibility.

Va. Anti-NAACP Laws Held Void

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 21 (AP)—A special three judge federal court today held three of Virginia's anti-NAACP laws unconstitutional. The decision was split 2 to 1.

It knocked down the laws requiring such organizations as the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, which engage in racial litigation or collect funds for such purposes, to register with the state and disclosed their membership lists and the source of monies collected.

The other law held unconstitutional is the one relating to stirring up litigation in which the party has no direct interest.

These statutes were part of the package passed by the special anti-segregation session of the General Assembly in September, 1956.

Sen. Payne To Run

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Sen. Payne (R-Maine) announced tonight he will seek re-election next fall. The 57-year-old senator said his health has improved since he originally announced in November, 1956, that he would not go after the Republican nomination for a second term.

Use Of Animals In Boys' Rocket Tests Deplored

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Humane Society of the United States today urged two Frederick, Md., boys to stop using animals in rocket experiments.

The society, whose headquarters are here, noted that Maryland law forbids cruelty to animals and defines cruelty as any act that causes "unjustifiable physical pain, suffering, or death."

The boys announced Sunday that they had been unsuccessful in trying to rocket a bird into the sky. They said their next attempt would involve a mouse.

"Parents and adult sponsors of children who are experimenting with rockets all over the country should recognize," the society said, "that the use of live animals in missiles fired by children is wholly unscientific and in most jurisdictions is illegal. Neither the children nor the ordinary adult sponsor can learn anything useful from such use of animals and certainly they can add nothing to scientific knowledge."

"We admire and commend the intellectual activity that leads children to be curious about the mechanics, chemistry, and physics of rocketry but we equally condemn cruelty to animals. This nation needs children who are trained to be merciful and compassionate as much as it needs children trained to fire rockets."

The society recently obtained a court restraining order in Austin, Minn., preventing youthful rocketeers there from using mice in rockets.

The two Frederick youths, William D. Neal, 14, and Paul Thompson, 13, reported they successfully launched two of four home made rockets. They said there was a bird in the fourth which didn't get off the ground.

Britain Grants 11 Hungarians Asylum

LONDON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Britain today granted asylum to 11 homeless Hungarians who sneaked into this country as stowaways after going to Brazil as refugees.

The decision was announced in the House of Commons by acting Prime Minister Richard A. Butler.

The government last week ordered the Hungarians sent back to Brazil, but relented after protests in newspapers.

The Hungarians—three married couples and five children—fled their own country during the anti-Soviet revolution.

Hobo "King" Notes Times Have Changed

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 21 (AP)—King Jeff Davis of the Hoboes of America reports "hoboes ain't hoboeing any more."

"Times have changed," Davis said yesterday as he stopped off to file his group's annual non-profit corporation report with the Indiana secretary of state. "They are doing odd jobs now."

He said the organization's aim is "to help the fellow on the move to better himself." The Hoboes helped send about 500 runaway youngsters back home, gave silk ties to blind and homeless men, and perfume and handkerchiefs to forgotten women, he said.

Alleged Embezzler Arrested In Capital

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Ben F. Long Jr., 46, an assistant cashier charged with embezzling $10,437 from the Patuxent Naval Air Station commissary, was arrested here last night.

The FBI, which had been looking for him since Dec. 10, said he was found in the cocktail lounge of a downtown hotel. The search had centered in Florida.

He had been employed at the commissary since July 12, 1955. Prior to that he had served 23 years in the Navy. Married, he lived formerly in Lexington Park, Md.

INSISTS ON OWN SALARY CUT—A. Stover Fritz, 81-year-old Waynesboro (Pa.) borough official, works at his desk after he appeared before the borough council and insisted that they cut his salary from $4,000 to $1,800. The council obliged him with the cut. Fritz, who collects the borough taxes as treasurer, and is assistant borough manager, told the council, "I feel you are paying me too much," and added: "I want to feel free to work a half day when I feel like it, take time off for illness and to come in late when it is snowing." ## GM Head Gets Bid From UAW

DETROIT, Jan. 21 (AP)—The executive board of the United Auto Workers invited General Motors President Harlow H. Curtice to address the union's special convention opening in Detroit Wednesday.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther, in a telegram to Curtice, offered him an opportunity to provide the delegates with whatever information he believes will be helpful to them in drafting a collective bargaining program that will be sound and realistic.

There was no immediate comment from Curtice. The three-day special convention of U.S. and Canadian locals delegates is expected to ratify Reuther's proposal to make profit sharing the union's main goal in 1958 bargaining.

The invitation to Curtice noted that he had described the union's proposed bargaining program as being wholly unrealistic. The union also noted that Curtice had expressed hope that the delegates to the convention, which is to consider the recommended 1958 collective bargaining program, would recognize the economic realities and adopt a sound policy regarding collective bargaining objectives for 1958.

Two Die When Plane Hits Wire, Crashes

WILMINGTON, Del., Jan. 21 (AP)—A small plane approaching a landing field hit a wire, plummeted to the ground and burst into flames tonight, killing both occupants.

The victims were identified as Louis Humphrey of Limestone Gardens, Del., and Frank Pearson, Edgemore, Del., both pilots for the RCA Flight Laboratories at New Castle County Airport.

Witnesses said the pilots apparently did not see the wire in the rain and fog. It stretches near the approach to New Castle Airport.

Plastic 'Bubbles' To Be Installed Atop Monument

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Some sightseers throw or drop things from the top of the 555-foot Washington Monument.

From that height a penny will dent an auto. Recently a falling two-pound telescopic lens broke a woman's hand.

The National Park Service's solution: Transparent plastic "bubble" protectors to be installed outside each of the eight observation windows.

White Girl Raped By Negro At School

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP)—A 15-year-old Negro boy raped a 13-year-old white girl in the basement of a Brooklyn junior high school today.

The girl, an eighth grade student at John Marshall High School, was taken to a hospital in a state of shock.

Police seized a youth, believed to be a student also, shortly after the incident and held him at the hospital for possible identification by the girl when her condition permitted.

Police withheld their names because of their ages.

A Board of Education spokesman said the girl was sent by her teacher to the cafeteria on the school's ground floor for a bottle of milk. She was accosted by the youth who forced her at knife-point to accompany him to the basement.

After assaulting her, the youth fled. The girl ran hysterically to the cafeteria where an employee took her to Principal George Goldfarb's office. Goldfarb called an ambulance and police.

Six police cars responded and after a search of the area took the youth into custody.

Shipbuilding Lead Retained By Japanese

LONDON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Japanese shipbuilders wound up 1957 with a firm grip on the world production lead they captured a year ago.

The authoritative Lloyds Register returns showed today that Japan launched 124 ships totalling 699,366 tons in the last quarter—bringing the year's total to 2,424,000 tons.

This was 678,000 tons more than in 1956, the year Japan ousted Britain from her traditional place at the top.

British launchings this year amounted to 1,407,000 tons, 24,000 tons more than in 1956.

Detailed figures for the last three months of 1957 show that Britain launched 71 ships of 453,940 tons. British ships completed—fitted out after launching—totalled 72 vessels of 341,131 tons.

Japanese completions during the quarter were 136 ships of 599,348 tons.

In third place again was West Germany, 114 ships of 357,576 tons launched and 406,116 tons completed. Germany's completion figure was thus higher than Britain's, but it is the launching total which is usually taken as the index of output.

The United States came seventh in the quarterly output tables with 10 ships of 102,866 tons launched and 11 ships of 70,771 tons completed.

Parking Violators Get Surprise Gifts

MOUNT VERNON, Ill., Jan. 21 (AP)—There was an unexpected profit today for some 50 persons tagged for parking violations the night of Jan. 3.

The tickets were passed out on the first Friday night after parking meter regulations had been changed to conform with new hours of operation for stores. The violators paid 50-cent fines.

Mayor Virgil T. Bailey, expressing belief there had not been adequate warning of the change in regulations, said he would refund the fines from personal funds.

But a store owners group notified the City Council last night it would send $1 gift certificates to the persons fined and the mayor then withdrew his offer of a refund.

Aqueduct Bombed

HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 21 (AP)—Rebel terrorists tried to destroy Havana's water supply today.

A bomb blew up one of the main aqueducts serving the capital, partly disrupting the water supply of the nearby towns of Regla and Guanabacoa, causing the loss of five million gallons of water daily. Repairs are being made.

SRC Unveils Rt. 40 Plan

HAGERSTOWN, Jan. 21 (AP)—The State Roads Commission today unveiled its proposed route for the new expressway to carry U. S. 40 westward from Hagerstown to Hancock, some 25 miles.

The plan was presented to the Washington County commissioners to get their approval for the several bridges and underpasses that will carry county roads over or under the limited-access, four-lane divided highway.

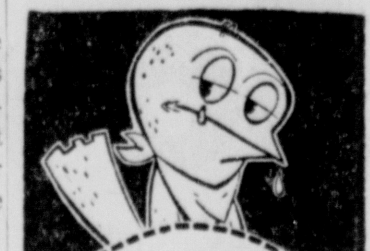

The extension of U.S. 40 will be similar to the route between Baltimore and Frederick and U.S. 240 between Frederick and Washington, with a parkway between the double lanes.

The new route will run south of the present U.S. 40, bypassing Fairview Mountain. The SRC said it would be necessary to relocate two sections of Western Maryland Railway track at Big Pool and Parkhead, about 18 miles west of Hagerstown.

Date for starting the project has not been set.

Presenting the proposal to the commissioners were Edgar J.

Streh, special services official of the SRC, and John Floyd, Wayne D. Meyers and Michael Baker Jr., construction engineers for the commission.

Maryland Will Elect 11 Judges This Year

1,600 Continue Wildcat Strike At Rubber Firm

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 21 (AP)—Two court of appeals judges, seven circuit judges and two members of the Baltimore Supreme Bench will be elected by Maryland voters this year in addition to a governor, attorney general, comptroller, U. S. Senator and seven congressmen.

The 11 judgeships are currently held by jurists appointed by Gov. McKeldin since the 1956 general election. State law requires that they stand for new 15-year terms on their own.

Candidates will be running on both the Democratic and Republican tickets in the May 20 primary.

The two Court of Appeals seats to be filled are held by Judge William R. Horney of Centerville, representing the First Appellate Circuit (Eastern Shore), and Judge Stedman Prescott of Rockville, representing the Third Appellate Circuit (Western Maryland).

Judge Prescott, who has already filed for the primary, was appointed Oct. 1, 1956 to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Judge Edward S. Delaplaine.

Judge Horney, who also has filed for nomination, was appointed last Nov. 2 after the resignation of Judge Stephen R. Collins.

Only one of the recently appointed circuit judges has filed so far. He is Judge Patrick M. Schnauffer of Frederick, chief judge of the Sixth Judicial Circuit (Frederick and Montgomery counties). Judge Schnauffer was elected in 1942 and appointed last year to continue sitting until the next general election.

The circuit judges scheduled to stand for election this year include:

Sixth Circuit (Frederick and Montgomery): Judges Schnauffer and John R. Reeves of Bethesda, appointed last Nov. 19.

Only one candidate other than a sitting judge has filed for any of the vacancies. He is James H. Pugh, a Rockville attorney seeking the Sixth Judicial Circuit seat now held by Judge Reeves.

The filing deadline is March 10.

Bethlehem Buys Land Near Williamson, Pa.

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., Jan. 21 (AP)—The Bethlehem Steel Co. announced today it has purchased about 3,000 acres of land near Williamson, Franklin County, Pa., but has no immediate plans to develop the property.

The announcement was made in a statement through George S. Black, Chambersburg attorney. It said the land contains a deposit of metallurgical limestone.

The statement ended speculation as to the purpose of land purchases made over the last five years by Black and Charles S. Gardner Sr. and Charles S. Gardner Jr., Blue Ridge Summit real estate men.

The purchase price was not announced but tax stamps on deeds recorded indicated the figure was $1,160,250.

1,600 Continue Wildcat Strike At Rubber Firm

BALTIMORE, Jan. 21 (AP)—Some 1,600 workers at the Crown, Cork and Seal Co.'s Highlandtown plant continued a wildcat strike today despite union and company efforts to get them back to work.

Union spokesmen said the unauthorized walkout began at 1 p.m. yesterday when workers in the rubber mill quit in protest of the suspension of six workers.

Stanley McKee, president of Local 3267 of the United Steelworkers of America, said the walkout was due to a company order that 40 workers remaining in the rubber mill after a layoff were to double up on some jobs.

McKee said the workers protested and six were suspended for "insubordination." The others walked out and were joined by workers on the day shift and most of the incoming 4-to-12 shift when it reported yesterday.

The plant was closed and pickets paraded before the gates today.

The strikers said they would not return unless those suspended were taken back without charges.

Glenn Smith, international representative of the union, said an attempt would be made to meet with management today.

Company officials have refused to comment.

Last April, about 1,700 employees walked off their jobs protesting the firing of a fellow worker. Management and labor succeeded in getting them back and the incident which caused the walkout was handled by regular grievance procedure.

Marylanders Urged To File Tax Return Early

BALTIMORE, Jan. 21 (AP)—If you're due an income tax refund from Maryland on your 1957 return, the best way to get the money headed for your pocketbook is to file early and avoid mistakes.

That's the advice today from State Comptroller J. Millard Taves, who announced that the Income Tax Division has begun mailing refunds to those who already have passed the two requirements.

Since a comparatively few taxpayers have filed their tax forms, not many refunds are in the mail. Taves drew a parallel with last year, when a majority of the 486,000 returns necessitating refunds were received near the April 15 deadline. As a result, some refunds were delayed.

Another delaying factor, as usual, is the mistakes made by taxpayers in filing their returns. Taves said a major problem was failure to attach the tax withholding statement given employees by the employer to substantiate the tax claimed to have been withheld from wages.

SRC Opens Bids On Four Jobs

BALTIMORE, Jan. 21 (AP)—Low bids totaling more than 1½ million dollars on four projects were opened today by the State Roads Commission.

Most costly is the grading, drainage, surfacing and relocation of Maryland 97, for which Thomas Bennett & Hunter, Inc. of Westminster was low among seven bidders at $629,677.40. The work will cover 3.1 miles of the highway from Westminster by-pass to Tenby.

The S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Co. of Cumberland bid $383,810.20 on a section of U.S. 40. The work involves grading, installing a storm sewer, a drainage system and surfacing the highway from Maryland 36 to Long, a distance of 0.98 miles. There were only two bids on this job.

A low bid of $541,078.74 was offered by Forestville Sand & Gravel Co. & Rigel Construction Co. Inc. of Upper Marlboro for 5½ miles of grading, drainage and surfacing of Maryland 228. The project, covering a stretch from Maryland 3 in Waldorf to Maryland 227, attracted five bidders.

The fourth project, to relocate a steel beam bridge in Baltimore County, drew a low bid of $95,554 by J. Melvin Roberts of Cockeysville. It calls for erecting the bridge over the Baltimore-Harrisburg Expressway, just east of U.S. 111 near the Pennsylvania line.

McKeldin Honored

BALTIMORE, Jan. 21 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin was honored by The National Federation of Temple Brotherhoods at a meeting of Har Sinai Congregation's brotherhood tonight.

Sylvan Lebow of New York, executive director of the federation, presented McKeldin with a citation which cited the governor as an "eloquent spokesman for better interfaith understanding, an untiring and dedicated worker in the cause of brother, and a champion of many worthy Jewish causes."

Motorist's Sniper Story Discounted

BALTIMORE, Jan. 21 (AP)—Baltimore Harbor Tunnel police today discounted a theory that someone may be sniping at motorists using the tunnel approach roads.

Instead, they blame a stone thrown in the air by a passing vehicle as the probable reason a windshield was shattered last night.

Arthur Robinson of Philadelphia said just before the glass shattered he saw a man standing at the side of the road raise his hand "and a ball of fire came out of it."

Robinson said he believed the man fired a gun, but police said the "ball of fire" may have been a cigarette and the "bullet" may have been a flying stone.

Joint Church Action Needed On Clergy Standards

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

A man can become a clergyman in this country about as easily and quickly as he can say "The Rev. John J. Jones."

And many do. "It's an amazing situation," said Frank Ketcham, a Washington, D.C., attorney, who is pressing the churches for joint action to set up some over-all minimum standards.

But there are delicate issues involved.

The regular denominations, of course, do have extensive requirements for entering their own ministries, but outside their domains, the field is wide open.

"About all that a man has to do is give himself the title and he's in business," Ketcham said. "Almost any man in almost any state can do it."

The clergyman's designation, Ketcham notes, can provide a man with various privileges.

He can, if he gets followers, collect contributions; so far as the law generally goes, perform marriages; get discounts at stores; lower fares on railroads and some airlines and he can don clerical garb and use the prestige that goes with it.

He can, by establishing a religious organization as not for private gain, invest his collections in tax-free real estate, buildings and other property.

Why is it so simple for a person, no matter what his qualifications or lack of them, to assume the role of priest or preacher?

Mostly, the answer lies in the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, forbidding any law regarding an "establishment of religion."

States generally adhere to the idea, except for minor regulations; and leave religion free of barriers or restrictions.

The result in some instances, Ketcham said, has "amounted in effect to religious license for religious rackets designed to enrich the pockets of their practitioners."

Ketcham, an active Congregational Christian layman and counsel for agencies of several denominations, doesn't advocate changing the laws. They're an essential of democratic freedoms, he said.

But he said the churches can, and should, take steps to set up a mutual system to safeguard the Christian ministry — and prevent its abuses.

"The evils of the situation are growing," he said. "Our people are anxious and troubled. They will turn to almost anyone who sounds plausible to them in their anxieties."

"As Christians, we should not permit them to be victimized and damaged, both spiritually and physically, by charlatans and frauds."

Ketcham, an expert on church legal problems, said the denominations should get together and work out minimum educational standards for the entire ministerial profession. This, he said, would serve as a national accrediting guide.

$100,000 For Refugees

UNITED NATIONS, Jan. 21 (AP) — U. S. Protestant and Eastern Orthodox churches have lent the U. N. $100,000 to help resettle White Russian refugees from Red China. They acted through the Church World Service of the National Council of Churches. About 1,200 of the White Russians are now in Hong Kong, waiting to be resettled elsewhere.

But, he added, church opposition to the plan is strong and widespread.

"They're afraid any requirements might muzzle some preacher who would do some good," Ketcham said.

"They say, 'Suppose he has the message? Suppose the Lord is using him? How do we know? That's the stopper.'"

He said that in the past, a self-styled minister, lacking training or preparation, couldn't affect or exploit many people outside the regular churches, but that broad of people.

U.S. Let Nazi Rocket Material Slip Through Fingers To Soviet

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP) — A former Red army officer claimed today that Russia got rocket-building material from a key Nazi missile plant abandoned by U.S. troops at the end of World War II.

Concerning the same affair, an American officer said written orders he had received indicated the plant and its contents were to be left for Soviet occupation.

The wartime German plant involved was at Nordhausen, in East Germany, an underground center for producing V2's and other rockets.

Statements of the two army men were in two articles entitled "We Gave the Russians the Key to Sputnik" in the current issue of Look magazine.

In one account, Vladimir Shabinsky, former Russian lieutenant colonel and now an American anti-Communist broadcaster, said he sent equipment to Russia.

The American officer, Maj. James P. Hamill, who then was with ordinance technical intelligence, relates the conditions under which, he said, American troops first entered the area and then left it.

"We knew about the Nordhausen plant long before we took it," he is quoted. "The written orders I received indicated that Nordhausen was to be in the Russian zone and that all plans and equipment were to be left for the Soviet."

"These orders originated at a union representative."

Soviet Germ War Threat Is Recalled

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP) — The Army's top expert on chemical warfare said yesterday the nation should be as alert to the danger of biological warfare as it is to the threat of atomic attack.

Maj. Gen. William M. Creasy, chief chemical officer, made the comment during an engineering luncheon speech in which he disclosed that the recent epidemic of Asian flu in this country is providing "rare opportunity" for a study of possible germ warfare dangers.

"Soviet leaders have made it very plain in statements over the past two years that any future war would include the employment not only of atomic and hydrogen weapons, but chemical and bacteriological weapons as well," Creasy said.

"We can safely assume that chemical and biological weapons figure prominently in the Soviet arsenal. We should consider that it is not too impossible that we may find ourselves confronted with a Sputnik in the chemical, biological and radiological warfare field, as we did in the missile field."

A full report on the effects of Asian flu, he said, is not expected until after a second predicted wave of the infection has run its course.

"Data will be collected on the effect of the disease on community functions and their relationship to industrial production, including their ability to carry out assigned missions under epidemic conditions," Creasy declared.

"Information as to the ability of military units to carry on their work under such conditions also will be studied."

Creasy addressed the 45th annual meeting of the Compressed Gas Assn.

Room For Increase

NEW DELHI, Jan. 21 (AP) — The magazine Economic Review reports that, although India's reserves of high-grade iron ore are believed to rank second only to Brazil's, her output forms only two per cent of world production. U. S. iron ore production constituted 43 per cent of the total; the Soviet Union's 18 per cent.

B&O Awards Firm Bridge Contract

Players Select Cast For Next Production

The contract for construction of the new overhead bridge across the B&O Railroad Company's tracks in the Mexico Farms section has been awarded the Harrison Construction Company of Pittsburgh.

The same firm also has a contract in connection with the yard expansion program now under way from the southern end of the city to the North Branch area. A new bridge across eight tracks of the new yards will eliminate a grade crossing which connects the county roads in that area.

Notice of the contract award to the Harrison firm was contained in a letter to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners from C. L. Kroll, regional engineer for the B&O Railroad.

Kroll said the work on the overhead bridge will begin soon and he asked the county to proceed with its program for relocating roads to tie-in with the new bridge. The county road would be relocated about 1,600 feet away from the present connection with the grade crossing.

Members of the county board said plans and specifications for the road relocation project are being made by the State Roads Commission and bids on the project will be asked as soon as possible.

In his letter Kroll said it is hoped to have the road relocation project completed approximately the same time as the overhead structure. He also stated it is hoped to place the modernized yards in operation sometime this coming summer.

Two Men Hurt In Route 40 Truck Crash

Two men were hospitalized yesterday following a tractor-trailer crash along U. S. Route 40 near Nave's Cross Roads.

Admitted to Memorial Hospital were Robert Lee, 26, Morristown, Tenn., driver of the rig, and his helper, Clyde Smith, 39, also of Morristown. They were working for the Forest Product Trucking Company of Morristown.

Tic. Jack Browning of the Maryland State Police, who investigated, said the collision occurred around 9 a. m. as the two men were leaving Cumberland.

Tfc. Browning said the tractor-trailer skidded on the ice-coated highway, ran off the road and over a ditch along side the road. When the rig hit the ditch the driver and passenger were thrown out, police noted.

The men were taken to Memorial Hospital by Frank Brooks, LaVale, who was following the rig in his automobile.

Police said it was learned that the men had unloaded furniture at a local store and were leaving the city at the time of the crash.

Hospital attaches said Lee sustained lacerations of his forehead and possible back injuries, while Smith suffered a laceration of his scalp. Both were reported in "good" condition last night.

Man Is Fined After Accident

A Flintstone area man, whose automobile left the highway and struck a utility pole on Friday, was found guilty of three motor vehicle violations Monday and was fined $150 in Trial Magistrates Court.

Enoch Van Meter pleaded guilty to one charge but said he was not guilty of reckless driving or leaving the scene of an accident.

Trooper K. W. Messer investigated the mishap and Magistrate Donald W. Mason levied the fines.

In other motor vehicle cases yesterday Charles Gordon Kittle, 33, Rosville, Ga., was fined $125 by Magistrate J. Milton Dick for improper passing and speeding in excess of 70 miles per hour on U. S. Route 220 at Potomac Park. Trooper J. H. Sweitzer made the arrest and said Kittle was driving at speeds of 85 to 90 miles an hour.

Paul Chester Twigg, Bowman's Addition, forfeited $100 bond on a charge of operating a motor vehicle on a revoked license.

Rock 'n' Roll Tough On Pianos, Man

FRESNO, Calif., Jan. 21 (AP) — Whether or not rock 'n' roll is rough on the ears is a subject of dispute. But there's no doubt that loud, steady beat wreaks havoc on pianos, man.

That big, ol' grand piano at Fresno's Memorial Auditorium was remembered and cherished by many concert pianists. Jose Iturbi liked it so much he borrowed it one year and had it shipped all over the state for his concerts.

But since rock 'n' roll came to the auditorium, the grand piano's been soundin' sicker and sicker, man. So Gordon Hewson, manager of the Fresno Convention and Tourist Bureau, bought an old upright for $150 the other day. He's going to let that ol' grand rest a while until one of the conservative gents appears again.

You know, man, one of those men with the light touch.

Tulsa Chorus Announces Sunday Concert Program

The program for Sunday night's concert at Fort Hill auditorium by the University of Tulsa Concert and Radio Chorus, 38 voices and two pianists, was announced yesterday in Tulsa, Oklahoma, by Arthur Hestwood, director.

Modern numbers by Cole Porter, Jerome Kern, the Gershwins and Tom Waring will serve as contrasts to such ageless compositions as Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite"; Benjamin Britten's "Ceremony of Carols"; a quintet of Robert Schumann songs; and excerpts from "Song of America."

Rated as a college chorus with professional standards, the singers from Tulsa are scheduled for a national broadcast while in New York on the tour that brings them to Cumberland. Next Sunday's concert, sponsored here by the Lions Club for the benefit of the Police Boys' Club, will begin at 8 p. m.

Listed among the individual songs on the two-hour program are a Latin religious composition, "Tu Pauperum Refugium"; "America the Beautiful"; "In the Still of the Night"; "Standin' on the Corner"; "My Bonnie Lies over the Ocean"; "Swanee River"; "Row, Row, Row Your Boat"; "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes"; "We Bring You Melodies"; "This Is My Country"; "I've Got You Under My Skin"; and dozens of others.

"The Nutcracker Suite" was composed by Tchaikovsky as an instrumental group of melodies, but it has been choreographed into a ballet and had words added for singing. It is a brilliant "tour de force" as sung by the Tulsa Chorus.

On their previous appearance here the Tulsa boys and girls included a square dance comedy skit on the program, but it is not known if such an act will be presented on next week's tour.

As the only visiting musical attraction scheduled here this season, the University of Tulsa Chorus may well draw a capacity audience to Fort Hill auditorium next Sunday night.

Magistrates Report Motor Violations Up For 1957

Motor vehicle cases handled in the two local Trial Magistrate courts during 1957 increased 40 per cent over 1956 and 150 per cent over 1951.

Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason, who started keeping records back in 1951, said yesterday that 2,527 hearings were held during 1957, compared to the 1,826 cases tried during the previous year. In 1951 only 1,021 motor vehicle cases were tried in Cumberland.

Last year Magistrate Mason handled 1,324 cases, while Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick heard 1,203 cases.

The report released yesterday also revealed an increase of 327 cases or 30 per cent during the last six months of 1957 when compared to the first six-month period of last year.

Last year Magistrate Dick handed out fines totaling $17,453.15 while Magistrate Mason fined drivers a total of $15,515.50 to bring the year's total to $32,968.65 compared to the 1956 fines of $23,164.35.

These figures represent an increase of $23,000 in fines from 1951 to 1957 or 230 per cent, and an increase of $10,000 in fines from 1956 to 1957 or a 45 per cent hike.

The biggest month during 1957 was July when 370 cases were tried by the two local magistrates and fines totaled more than $5,000. A number of motorists were also jailed during July.

Magistrate Mason said yesterday that the fines and costs all go to the Department of Motor Vehicles and they remit $3 for every case to the Allegany County Commissioners.

Salt Spreader Is Developed By A. W. Heller

Andrew W. Heller, superintendent of city streets, has developed a new salt-spreading machine which will speed up work during icy weather and result in a considerable saving in maintenance and manhour costs.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz said the new salt spreader was devised by Heller and constructed of sheet metal by Super Concrete Company under Heller's supervision. Cost was $200, a saving of about $400 to the city if it had purchased a motor-driven machine.

The salt-spreader can cover a width of eight-feet at one time. It is attached to the rear of a truck and bagged salt is dumped into a bin. There are no moving parts to the machine, therefore no maintenance.

Where four men were required in the past to salt icy streets, only two, a driver and helper, are needed to work the new machine, Heller said.

It was demonstrated to members of the city council Monday at City Hall and placed in operation today when freezing rain made streets hazardous in the city.

City To Close Part Of Street

The Mayor and Council will introduce an ordinance for the closing of Homestead Avenue from Fourth Street to the Jane Frazier Village property line on February 24.

Application for the closing was made by Potomac Edison Company which is planning to construct a service center in the area.

Health Officer Outlines Plan To Liquor Unit

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, and J. Byron Dowling, state sanitarian for this area, met with the Allegany County Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioners yesterday to discuss the new program for eating and drinking establishments in the county.

Dr. Strien said the sanitarians and the two Liquor Board inspectors have been cooperating in cases where unsanitary conditions are reported in establishments which sell alcoholic beverages.

The medical officer also asked for and received assurance that the Liquor Board would not act on an new applications for licenses until the Health Department had a chance to look into the facilities of such premises.

Dr. Strien said the program under which the eating and drinking establishments will be regulated will be done on a gradual basis and with emphasis on educating the owners of the need for having sanitary conditions in their places of business.

No regulations have been in force in the county, with the exception of Cumberland's restaurant and drinking establishment rules started shortly after World War II, and Dr. Strien said the need for such regulations to protect the health of the general public is vital.

Dowling said the Health Department has received excellent cooperation from the Liquor Board inspectors in the past few months in eliminating some unsanitary conditions.

Meetings Planned For Farmers

Plans have been completed for two meetings in Allegany County for farmers on federal income tax matters, according to Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent.

Dr. George Stevens, agricultural economist from the University of Maryland, will conduct a meeting at the Court House tomorrow from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. A night meeting will be held at 8 p. m. at Flintstone High School.

Steger said members of the various homesteaders clubs have been invited to attend and many farm and rural women keep the accounts for their farming activities.

The world's largest bats, the "flying foxes" of Java, have a wingspan of nearly five feet.

Lonaconing Group Seeks Priority On Road Project

The Lonaconing Republican Club yesterday requested the Allegany County Board of Commissioners for support in having the highway project for the section between Barton and Midland placed in the first phase of the State Roads Commission highway program.

A letter to this effect was received by the commissioners. They said that the highway work in the area listed was in the second phase of the state roads program. If the county would support the moving up of the project to the first phase then a hazardous highway condition could be eliminated, the letter stated.

The organization stated that many students from that area had to travel or be transported over the seven or eight miles of highway to attend Valley High School. It was also cited that many workmen travel the highway in going to and from work at industrial plants and business houses.

The letter was signed by Ed

Murder Suspect To Be Examined

WELCH, Jan. 21 (AP)—Criminal Court Judge I. Mann Litz today ordered James Carter 54, of Welch, charged with murder in the slaying of Byrd Hicks, 45, of Bradshaw, committed to Lakin hospital for mental observation.

The judge, acting on a motion by the defense, ordered Carter sent to Lakin for a period of 30 days. Then, on a motion by the state, the judge further ordered that Carter spend an additional 30-day observation period at Weston State Hospital.

The case was continued until the April court term.

In some criminal proceedings, where specialized knowledge of a certain kind is needed to deal with a specific case, a "special jury" is impaneled from persons who possess the requisite knowledge.

Patrolman Orders Bottle, Gets One On The Noggin

HUNTINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Patrolman Glen H. Crabtree ordered a drink of illegal whisky and got the whole bottle — on his head, he told superior officers of the police department from his hospital bed today.

Crabtree, 32, was quoted by Police Chief Clifford Jarrell that an unknown person hit him on the head with the bottle early today after the patrolman bought the whisky at a club on Eighth Ave. The police chief said he had told his men on several occasions to attempt to buy liquor by the drink — banned by state law—at various establishments, but he said Crabtree was not on a specific assignment to do so early today. The patrolman has been on sick leave.

Attorney To Defend Failure To Appear

WELCH, Jan. 21 (AP)—Willard Brown, a Charleston attorney, has again been notified to appear in McDowell County Criminal Court following postponement of a hearing originally set for Monday.

Criminal Court Judge I. Mann Litz said he sent a wire to Brown late yesterday instructing him to appear at a hearing at 10 a.m. tomorrow. The judge said Brown would have to show cause why he did not appear last Friday to represent a client.

The Charleston attorney allegedly had been scheduled to represent Charlie Harris of Keystone in a rape case. Harris and two Welch attorneys said Brown had been retained to represent the Keystone man, although Brown has said he was employed only to "investigate the case" and not to represent Harris.

Kirkland Hopes For New Bill On Teacher Pay

BROOKLYN PARK, Md., Jan. 21 (AP) — Del. Kirkland (D-Anne Arundel) said tonight he will ask the Maryland Legislature to postpone action on Gov. McKeldin's veto of the school teacher pay raise bill and pass one with some tax other than a tobacco tax.

He told the Brooklyn Park Parent-Teachers Assn. he will introduce an alternate bill when the assembly convenes Feb. 5 to finance the salary increase out of a one per cent boost in the state sales tax.

Kirkland said he believes the general public would much prefer such a measure to the 5-cent-per-pack cigarette levy tacked into the compromise teacher pay bill which was enacted and vetoed last year. He said the cigarette tax, in addition to being a nuisance, does not provide a broad enough base to finance the pay hike which would cost 10 million dollars its first year.

The governor's veto will come up as a first order of business in the House of Delegates, where the bill originated.

Kirkland said he would ask "the indulgence of the leadership of the General Assembly" to make it a special order of business for later in the session.

"During this interim period," he said, "a bill such as I have proposed can be enacted by both houses of the Legislature and sent to the governor and if vetoed by him returned to the General Assembly before it closes the 30-day session and passed over his veto."

"If such legislation as I propose cannot be enacted then the Legislature will be free to override the present House Bill 253."

Kirkland said he realized such a procedure by the General Assembly "will require substantial courage in the light of the overwhelming correspondence we have each received requesting us to override the veto of the present bill."

He said Milson Raver, lobbyist for the State Teachers Assn., has been exerting "a definite pressure upon the members" to override the veto.

Kirkland, one of numerous Southern Maryland legislators who fought the tobacco tax proposal although they favored the pay increase, said his primary objection was placing the cost of higher teacher salaries on one segment of the populace.

"It is not a good policy of taxation to tax the users of any single product," he added. "If we may do this for teachers, then other groups deserving of pay raises may seek out other products—for example, soft drinks."

Kirkland predicted that delegates from Baltimore City and Baltimore County would be "exceedingly cautious" about overriding the veto. He said the cigarette taxes in these areas have recently jumped to five cents on the local level and a 2-cent state tax would be piled on top of this under the bill which was vetoed.

Sewage Plant Report Issued

Cumberland's treatment plant handled an average of 7,387,806 gallons of sewage daily during December, Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz told the Mayor and Council on Monday.

The clarifier unit, he added, handled a volume of 125,650 cubic feet daily and 1,940 cubic feet of digested sludge was pumped into sludge drying beds.

Water consumption was reported normal last week and on Sunday two inches of water was flowing over Lake Koon into Lake Gordon, which was down three feet.

Parking meter collections for the week ending January 12 totaled $743.02, up $156.80 over the previous week.

Council authorized the issuance of a $596.94 check to Robert T. Regester, consulting engineer, for preparing plans and specifications for motorizing remaining manual valves at the Lake Gordon filter plant.

Passed was an ordinance for introducing an ordinance for closing portions of Homestead Avenue.

Bruce came after a poll taken of the club's 150-woman membership last fall and a meeting of the executive board last week.

Informed sources said the organization probably will later endorse J. Millard Tawes for the gubernatorial nomination, even though it passed over Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, his running mate for the U. S. Senate.

Tawes Office Opens

The Tawes-D'Alesandro ticket opened its campaign headquarters today a few hours before Mrs. Meyer announced her group's endorsement of Bruce. Two rooms were set up on the third floor of the downtown Emerson Hotel, traditional headquarters of "organization" candidates.

These will be the nerve center of the campaigns of Tawes, D'Alesandro, and their two running mates—State Sen. Louis L. Goldstein, who is seeking the comptroller's office now held by Tawes, and Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert, who is running for reelection.

Miss Pryor and Miss Ziler were called back to the stand as rebuttal witnesses to deny that any threats were made to them by the county investigator.

The court room was well filled with spectators again yesterday as these two liquor cases apparently attracted much interest among the general public.

Any action concerning the liquor licenses of the Cadillac and Al's Chateau will be up to the discretion of the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverages License Commissioners, which meets next Tuesday, February 4.

Operators And Miners Dispute W.Va. Coal Laws

CHARLESTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — A proposed revision of the state's coal mining statutes was described on the one hand tonight as a balanced and progressive approach to mine safety, and on the other as a threat to the continued existence of the small operators.

Mines and mining committees of the Senate and House of Delegates heard the divergent views in a three-hour public hearing which drew a near-capacity gathering to the House chamber.

The bill, introduced into both the House and Senate, runs some 132 printed pages and represents a joint effort by representatives of the United Mine Workers and coal operators to update West Virginia's coal digging law.

R. G. Kelly, Charleston attorney speaking for the West Virginia Coal Assn., said that the bill might not be perfect but that it represented a balanced effort to protect the operators, mine workers and public alike.

Another early speaker on behalf of the bill was Vice President L. J. Pnakovich of UMW District 31 at Fairmont.

Leading off a parade of opponents was Brooks Callaghan, Richmond lawyer and secretary of the Central West Virginia Coal Operators Assn., from among whose members most of the opposition to the bill has arisen.

Callaghan and others who followed him urged that the Legislature appoint a committee from both houses to give the voluminous proposal further study and report back to the next regular session of the lawmakers in January of 1959.

Callaghan expressed alarm at what he called the "haste" with which this new mine code is thrust upon this short 30-day session of the Legislature.

Pnakovich retorted that the UMW was getting impatient about mine safety in the state and wanted to know how long miners could be expected to stay at their jobs when "you continue to grind up the number of men you do year in and year out."

Much of the controversy has centered about sections of the new bill setting up a five-member mine inspectors examining board and a coal mine safety board of review, on both of which the director of the West Virginia University School of Mines would serve as a public representative.

The other members of each of the two boards, named by the governor with the Senate's consent, would include equal numbers representing the mine workers and the operators.

Callaghan proposed on behalf of the central West Virginia group an amendment which would replace the proposed two boards with one of seven members on which the mines department director and his deputy would serve. The other members would be mining engineers and one electrical engineer who would have to meet rigid professional qualifications.

Except for the mines department officials, the board members would be named for six-year terms by the governor, again with the consent of the Senate.

Pnakovich called such a suggestion "unworkable" and "not feasible."

He said it would exclude from membership representatives of the men who mine coal. He added that the mines director should have no right to sit on the board because any appeal carried to him from a board ruling would find him reviewing his own decision.

An early speaker for the opponents was Joe McQuade of Richwood, president of the Central West Virginia Operators Assn.

McQuade insisted that the small operator was never a party to the so-called agreed bill and that under the proposed board of review section he would be tried by a representative of his workers and his competitors. He said an inspector should work only for the state mines department and only to enforce the law.

Mines Chief Crawford L. Wilson recommended enactment of the bill as introduced. He said the mines department felt the bill is fair to all operators, large and small alike.

Can't We Curb Jaywalking?

No one can seriously question that the automobile is here to stay.

But that doesn't stop thousands of individuals from acting as if it never had been invented—by darting across streets in the middle of the block, by crossing against traffic lights, or by just plain not paying attention to where they are going.

In simple language, they're jaywalking.

There are no statistics as to how much pedestrian traffic contributes to the periodic traffic jams that plague all cities, but it obviously is quite a bit.

Isn't it time that all municipalities did something about it? The pedestrian is abusing his privilege. It's time other cities followed the example of Los Angeles.

In Los Angeles the pedestrian is fully protected when he crosses the street at specified places and under specified conditions. Woe unto the motorist whose car hits him when he has the right of way.

But let the pedestrian err and cross at the wrong time or wrong place, and he makes himself fair game. Even stepping off the curb when the light is against him is punishable by fine.

Los Angeles recognizes that streets are for both automobiles and pedestrians. So should other cities.

The schools could help, too. Many have done a good job with driver training programs. Why cannot they undertake to teach the principles of good pedestrianism?

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

A Daring Man

A draft-dodger is a fellow who breaks the law wilfully, and often because he fears to fulfill the law. He is afraid of death. There have been conscientious objectors who declined to kill but who undertook the bravest services at the front, who displayed courage and patriotism of a high quality.

Here comes a letter from a reader who pronounces himself to be a draft-dodger and is proud of it. He says:

"In the first place, the 'increasing' number of draft-dodgers is not appalling, it is most heartening, especially to one in that younger generation which has been so justly accused by the pre-Roosevelt generation as having no guts . . ."

He says that he has guts, as he calls it. He says that there is an increasing number of Americans "including myself," says the self-asserted draft-dodger, "who are not convinced that a duty to serve one's country necessarily implies a duty to serve one's government."

Truly I cannot understand what he is talking about. There can be no distinction in the United States between the people and the government. Our government is not imposed upon us from outside. It is not hereditary. It is chosen at short intervals by the people of the United States who vote in free, secret elections and choose representative officials in accordance with the Constitution. All acts of government arise from legislation in Congress, both Houses of which are chosen by the people. Therefore the government and people are one as is stipulated in the Constitution which begins with the words, "We the people of the United States . . ."

My correspondent writes to me:

"In voluntarily foregoing a sheltered existence in a glorified boy's camp, I have been forced to hit the road to escape imprisonment; drifting from one skid-road to another, and living that hand-to-mouth existence which, besides death, is the only existence open to those who have not, or dare not use, the union-card, the Social Security number and the other credentials of regimented living."

This sounds very good but what does it prove? My memory goes back to World War I when many Americans were pro-German and were unwilling to go to war in a cause which they believed to be unjust. Many organized themselves into societies to keep this country out of war, but some of them discovered that the societies were actually being managed by persons in the Kaiser's employ. They discovered that instead of pursuing their consciences freely, they had been tricked into treason. There was less of that during World War II.

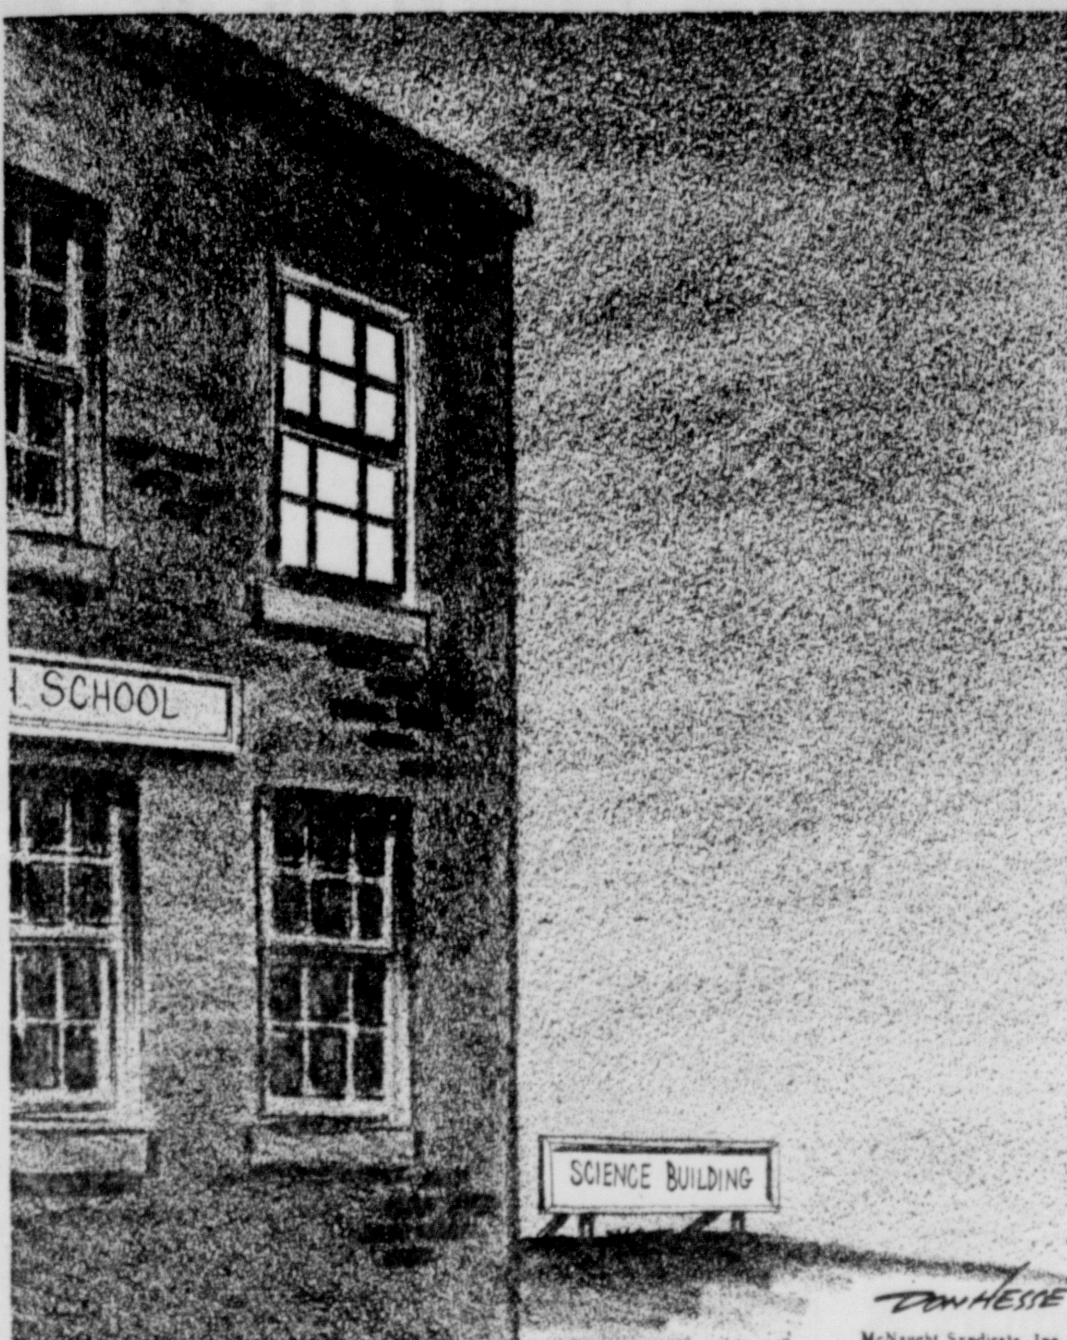

I cannot imagine why this correspondent needed to land on skid-road unless he preferred to. He might have found a life in some beneficial activity as other conscientious objectors have done. This may be one isolated instance of bad judgment, or is it? Can we fight a totally disciplined nation with even a small part of our citizenship thinking as illogically as this correspondent who is not only illiterate but educated? But what could have produced this in any American mind:

"But sometimes when I'm broke and hungry, when I'm cold and wet, I wonder if perhaps, in choosing a precarious freedom to an expedient slavery, I have made a mistake. I wonder if I shouldn't have made more of an effort to understand my government; if I shouldn't have rid my mind of Locke, Rousseau, Mill, and the U. S. Constitution, and filled it instead with Marx, Lenin, Mrs. Roosevelt, and the U.N. But then I remember the poor saps I have seen, and the poor saps all over the world, who have sold their souls for that gold-plated lemon 'security,' and I wonder then if the sheer joy of just being alive, being a man, being free, is experienced by them as it is by me. I wonder if the sun, the moon, the wind, the rain, the cold, and even the hunger carry the same passage from God to them as they do to me . . ."

This year, I have played upon every instrument to arouse your interest in education, in schools, in teachers. Nobody can read this letter, from which I have quoted so voluminously without wondering what made this obviously well-read man so antagonistic to his own world. He is neither a Thoreau nor an Emma Goldman. He is only tired—horribly tired of life itself.

Outer Space Control Seen As Serious Bid

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON
Is it a mere political-propaganda play? Or is it a matter of serious and secret negotiations?

These are the obvious questions to ask about the Administration's announced intention to seek agreement with the Russians on "control of outer space for peaceful purposes"—which means control of the ballistic missiles. As Secretary of State Dulles made crystal clear in his appearance before the National Press Club, the space-control proposal will form a cardinal point of American policy in the months to come.

The answer seems to be that the proposal is both a propaganda move and a matter for serious negotiation. Various ways of extracting every possible ounce of propaganda value from the proposal are being considered.

There has even been tentative talk, for example, of convening a special session of the United Nations General Assembly to be addressed on the subject by the President. Other possibilities are a major speech or series of speeches by the President on outer-space control, another letter to Bulganin on this subject alone, letters to all heads of government, and so on.

Whichever way of dramatizing the issue may be chosen, the point is that Dulles and his advisers unquestionably see the proposal as a means of seizing that famous initiative, putting the Soviets on the defensive, and ducking out from under the charge of "negativism." It is not unfair to suggest that the domestic political advantages of such "waging of total peace" have also not been overlooked.

But the proposal, certainly in the President's mind, and apparently in the mind of Secretary Dulles as well, is more than just another propaganda gimmick. The evidence that suggests that the proposal is serious falls into two parts.

Like the President's atoms-for-peace plan, the outer-space proposal has been something of a cart-before-the-horse proposition. The idea was first suggested by the soon-to-depart Harold Stassen about a year ago, and it has been rather languidly put forward from time to time since. When he was drafting the President's letter to Bulganin, Secretary Dulles, desperate for counter-proposals, seized on the idea and laid great emphasis on it, and he put even greater emphasis on it in his Press Club performance.

But until now the idea has been just that—an idea, rather than a plan. Now serious studies are going forward both in the Defense Department and in the State Department's policy planning staff, and the inevitable planning papers are beginning to pile up. As far as the liquid-fueled ballistic missiles are concerned, these studies confirm Dulles' statement that "at the present stage of the art . . . we have something which is readily subject to be controlled."

Given what Dulles called "even the most superficial form of inspection from the air," the ballistic missiles in their present stage of development can be easily detected and thus controlled. But since serious study of the problem began, all sorts of hideously difficult questions have emerged.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Rule of senatorial longevity is get yourself on a committee and see what's in the attic.

It worked neat on the porcelain eggs for Estes Kefauver, who reached the point where the subject changed him.

Stew Symington and Jack Kennedy also manipulated the iniquitous rostrum for secondary burns from flashlight powders.

All three of them are possibilities for the Democratic citation. Each one apprenticed himself to an investigation and grew up with the business.

It figures to be more than a coat-to-coat hook-up in the cloak room. It's an infallible formula for discovering how Alice got on the other side of the looking glass.

Since time immemorial the shoe on the other foot is the one that pinches. Personally, our sympathies have often been with the investigatees. We admired Senator Tobey but we still think horse-parkers should be licensed to save school-children the long ride to the race tracks.

The Republicans have some sharp quizzers of their own. But you don't investigate the administration when you're in office. Not even on rainy days.

Nobody but nobody conducts an investigation of itself better than a zoo monkey. It eats what it finds.

Moulder Committee Refuses Probe Despite Evidence Concerning FCC

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — When the Moulder Committee finally decided behind closed doors to sidestep a penetrating probe of the Federal Communications Commission, it had before it a highly confidential document. The investigation that went into this document cost about $250,000 and was the chief reason the Congressmen decided to duck any detailed scrutiny of the governmental agency which hands out priceless TV and radio licenses.

This column has now obtained a copy of the document, and since the Congressmen, by a 6-to-2 vote, chickened out on telling the public the truth, this column will publish pertinent parts of the confidential memo.

It should be noted in passing that Speaker Sam Rayburn, the father of the Federal Communications Commission, last year stepped down from the speaker's rostrum to make a rare and fervent plea that the $250,000 be appropriated. Last week he made a public statement blessing the committee's run-out.

The Secret Vote

The secret vote inside the committee to take this run-out powder is important. Two Congressmen, Moss of California and Moulder of Missouri, both Democrats, voted to proceed. All Republicans voted to chicken. They included Heselton of Massachusetts and Hale of Maine, close friends of fellow New Englander assistant President Sherman Adams, whose wire-pulling with the FCC would have been under scrutiny. Voting with them were Bennett of Michigan and O'Hara of Minnesota. Republicans, with Flynt of Georgia and Williams of Mississippi, two Dixiecrats who denounce Eisenhower regarding Little Rock but try not to embarrass him on anything else.

Any probe of the FCC would have been highly embarrassing, first because the President's brother-in-law was involved; second because Sherman Adams was involved; third, because in at least one case, a member of the cabinet, Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, was involved. He and Adams were mixed up in the award of a valuable TV station to the Boston Herald and Traveler in contradiction to FCC precedents and despite a strong recommendation by FCC subordinates to the contrary.

On the Democratic side, Sam Rayburn's nephew, FCC Commissioner Robert Bartley, would have been slightly embarrassed in another matter.

What Scared Congress

Here are pertinent parts of the confidential memo prepared by committee counsel Bernard Schwartz which scared the living daylight out of the investigating Congressmen:

"The Federal Communications Commission is the supreme court of the communications industry . . . If the commissioners have acted in a manner that would be deemed improper in a judge they have not lived up to such (judicial) powers. It is proposed that the first subject to be gone into be the conduct of members of the Federal Communications Commission indicating a deviation from the judicial standard which the Congress intended them to follow . . . Evidence has been uncovered by the staff which indicated the following:

"(1) A commissioner was fully reimbursed by the industry for the expenses incurred by him and his wife in attending an industry convention at which he delivered an address. This commissioner also claimed from and was paid by the government his full expenses (travel and per diem) to attend the same convention. Such a duplication of expense accounts apparently involves a criminal felony in that a 'false, fictitious, or fraudulent' claim was filed against the United States within the meaning of 18 U. S. C. 287 by the commissioner in question. See also 18 U. S. C. 1001, 1914."

Note—This refers to Chairman Doerfer's trip, already reported in this column.

"(2) Members of the commission have had their room, board, and other expenses (e. g. cafe, valet, golf fees, etc.) paid by the industry while attending industry conventions. At the same time, these commissioners have claimed and received per diem from the government for living expenses incurred by them in attending the same conventions.

"(3) Members of the commission have had their hotel bills paid by the industry while attending industry conventions. At the same time they have claimed and received per diem from the government for living expenses incurred by them in attending the same conventions.

"(4) Members of the commission have had their wives' expenses paid for by the industry for attendance at industry functions.

"(5) Members of the commission engage in constant fraternization with individuals and corporations who appear as litigants before the commission."

"(6) Members of the commission have received for their personal use color television sets and other communications equipment.

"(7) Members of the commission have received free service contracts for their personal television, radio, and hi-fi sets from a company which appears as a litigant before the commission. These free contracts involve savings up to several hundreds of dollars per year for the particular commission member concerned.

"(8) Members of the commission have used commission telephones (at government expense) to make purely personal telephone calls.

"It is important to note that the comptroller general of the United States, in a ruling of December 24, 1957, addressed to Chairman Moulder, has taken a strong position on the propriety of practices such as those just mentioned engaged in by members of the Federal Communications Commission . . . He concludes inter alia: 'The acceptance of the more expensive gifts, the payment of hotel bills and traveling expenses by outside agencies gives rise to serious doubts as to their propriety. In our opinion, such practice is not in keeping with the conduct which the public demands of government officials and should not be condoned . . . thus avoiding any appearance of favoritism whatsoever.'"

This is just part of what the Congressmen decided to whitewash. More will be published later.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Every family should have an Aunt Alice . . .

We have one. She is sixtyish and gray and she wears glasses. She has a good sense of humor, a whim of iron, and a stainless steel suspicion. She raised seven children and all of them are married and they have spread, like a virus, all over the landscape.

Aunt Alice and Uncle Homer are alone now, and they live in a four-family flat and collect rent from three tenants.

They are real society. Aunt Alice even wears earrings in the daytime. She chain-smokes her cigarettes and orders Uncle Homer around as though he were dirt under her feet—until he is.

Someday, when Auntie dies, they will chisel on her tombstone: "Right is right," because 'that's what she always said. Things were always right, or they were wrong. There was no in-between. She prayed a lot and went to church a lot and she always had a feeling that, if she enjoyed anything, it must be sinful and wrong.

She was against liquor and gay parties and gambling and jokes (unless they were scrubbed and sanitized first) and debtors and sex and hard luck. She was particularly against hard luck, especially when it happened to others because she had a feeling that it could be a form of punishment.

Hot or cold, Homer went out to work every day of his life. If he had a fever, Alice gave him two Bromo Quinines, packed his lunch, and said goodbye. She didn't kiss him because she didn't want to give him illusions. He owned his own truck and he made short hauls from his home in The Bronx to Long Island and Jersey.

Homer had a head like a Mexican parrot and he always looked at girls with one eye. He tilted it and, at family parties, he would drink two or three highballs and he was a terror with the pretty cousins and nieces. In later years, he had a big tooth missing in front and he kept a cigaret stuck in the space. It gave him a leer.

Alice brought the children up to believe that Right is Right. All of them went to church and prayed for guidance. Only two went to church now. When they were little, Aunt Alice had the first Ford sedan in her neighborhood and she used to go on picnics with the children.

They were packed in the back like chickens in a crate, squawking and flapping. Auntie was super-careful. She would drive slowly up a side street until she was within 50 feet of a main road. Then she would stop the car, get out, and walk up to the highway and look up to the sky. Then, when all was clear, she would walk back to the bedlam in the car, put the Dort in gear, and take off like a frightened rabbit.

Sometimes, when she crossed main roads, the buses and trucks tried to climb trees and poles, but she said that, if they had been careful like her, these things would never happen. Once, she chased a wandering drunk back and forth across a highway until he gave up and stood still. Aunt Alice sat there and cried and called him names in Gaelic.

Alice never had a drop of liquor to drink. It was the devil's own food, she said. We had an Uncle Charlie and he said that being married to Aunt Alice would drive any man to drink. It drove Uncle Charlie, and he wasn't married to her. He used to go on spees and, when he started to drink, he couldn't stop.

The family sent him to Aunt Alice's for the cure, and Uncle Charlie was so loaded that he didn't know where he was. He just kept smiling and sagging as two men helped him up the stairs. Aunt Alice fixed him. She put him in a bedroom and locked the door. He slept for awhile and then he began to pound on the door and Aunt Alice said that he could pound all night, but he wasn't getting out for any more devil's food.

Uncle Charlie used to get pretty desperate when the saloons closed. He was even worse in the bedroom. She finally permitted him to go to the kitchen for a drink of water.

In the morning, Uncle Charlie's two daughters phoned and Aunt Alice said that she felt awful, because their father was drunker than ever. This didn't make sense, because there was never anything to drink near Aunt Alice's. There was no liquor in his pockets. But Uncle Charlie was in bed, smiling and dreaming and drooling and no one could figure it out.

Years later, he told my father that, in the middle of the night he felt a heart attack coming on, but Aunt Alice wouldn't listen to him and he went to the kitchen for a cold drink of water. There was a big bottle of it on a back shelf in the refrigerator and he drank it.

It was unlabeled gin. Uncle Charlie couldn't believe it. He was sure that it was an act of God. Uncle Homer must have stashed it away and Aunt Alice never noticed it.

Ways Of Keeping Your Cold To Yourself

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Every day we watch colds being passed along by persons who do not realize they are doing so. "Our family has so many colds," complained the mother of five children as she wiped Johnny's nose with her own hankie.

Nasal secretions teem with virulent organisms, and if Johnny didn't pick up a few with this maneuver, he passed along a goodly number to the next user of that community handkerchief.

It is difficult to isolate members of a family when they come down with a cold. But something can be done to eliminate the most frequent ways in which the disease is passed along. The most direct source is the common drinking glass, the towel by the sink, and the all-purpose handkerchief carried in the purse.

The transmission of the common cold viruses via the air is well known. They are speewed out by the millions when a cough or sneeze is not stifled. Many organisms escape when talking or breathing. Little imagination is needed to realize what is taking place on a crowded bus in mid-winter when respiratory diseases are rife.

These diseases are transmitted in a number of ways. Several weeks ago I watched a waitress with a cold make several errors along this line. She had to sneeze while carrying a tray and turned her head just as she was passing a bowl of butter patties. Everyone who received butter from that container was exposed.

Then she wiped her face with her hands and picked up sweet rolls, silverware, and dishes. She was doing her best to be a heroine by working with a cold, without realizing she was doing no one a favor. Wearing a mask would help but who wants to be served in the circumstances? Food handlers with sniffles and sneezes should stay out of circulation.

THYROID AND CHOLESTEROL
D. H. writes: A serum test showed a blood cholesterol of 261 and my doctor prescribed thyroid extract for me. What is the connection between cholesterol and the thyroid gland?

REPLY
Low liquid activity is associated with an elevation of blood cholesterol; and overactivity of the gland with a decrease in the cholesterol level.

THE BODY
N. G. writes: Can plastic surgery round out a small face? I feel awful because my body is perfect but my face is so thin.

REPLY
Eating more will fatten your face but may mar that perfect figure of yours. It is impossible to give advice on plastic surgery without firsthand information on the work that needs to be done.

MOUTH PATCHES

P. W. writes: Is leucoplakia of the mouth caused by smoking?

REPLY
Almost every victim of this condition smokes and the lesions tend to disappear when smoking is stopped. Other causes of the white patches include ill fitting dentures, rough spots on the teeth, poor oral hygiene, and a deficiency of vitamin A. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on leucoplakia.

BUSY OIL GLANDS

W. K. writes: Can I take some kind of medicine to keep my oil glands from making so much grease on my skin?

REPLY
Ointments containing sulfur have a drying effect on the sebaceous glands but to my knowledge there is no medicine that can be taken by mouth to reduce their activity. In this respect, they differ from the sweat glands.

ONE SIDED PARALYSIS

C. R. writes: What is hemiplegia?

REPLY
Paralysis of one side of the body. A stroke is the most common form of hemiplegia.

THE CORONER

T. P. writes: Does a coroner have as much medical training as a doctor, or is he a doctor?

REPLY
This depends upon the local rules. In many areas the coroner is not a physician but a politician.

TOMORROW: Toddlers' knock-knees.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A busy beaver bank clerk, keenly aware of old Mrs. Gottplenty's million-dollar balance, began giving her the red-carpet treatment. He even took her six nasty, tempered, untrained dogs out for their constitutional every morning and evening. As he had hoped, Mrs. Gottplenty remembered the bank clerk in her will. She left him the dogs.

A persuasive insurance broker thought a neighbor's massive ferocious looking dog was a good reason for the neighbor to take out a fat policy. His powers of persuasion carried the day—and not a moment too soon—for the neighbor, anyhow. The policy had barely been signed when the dog made a leap for the insurance broker and bit him.

Jerry Lewis explains the curse of liquor thusly: just one glass of whisky makes you feel like a new man—but then the new man wants a drink, too!

Hoblitzell Favored For Senate Post

Neely's Successor To Be Named Soon

By HARRY W. BALL

CHARLESTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The liveliest political speculation in a generation has been touched off by the U. S. Senate vacancy created by the death of the veteran M. M. Neely.

The odds in Charleston seemed to continue to favor Republican State Chairman John D. Hoblitzell Jr. of Ravenswood, but new names were being added to the list for consideration almost hourly.

Among the possibilities were D. Boone Dawson, Charleston attorney and former four-term mayor of Charleston, Arthur M. Hill, transportation executive of Lewisburg and Washington and active in fund-raising activities of the GOP, and countless others. Hill was a visitor at the governor's office today.

An astute observer looked around the banquet hall in Charleston last night where 500 Republicans had paid $100 a head for the usual dinner menu of roast beef and lima beans, and offered to bet that he could count 100 fellow citizens who would love to be senator.

The published list of prospects has grown with each passing day since Neely died last Saturday in Washington. It includes perennial candidates like Tom Sweeney of Wheeling and Phil Hill of Charleston, and party stalwarts like National Committeeman Walter S. Hallanan and Austin V. Wood of Wheeling.

Gov. Underwood, who drew the difficult lot of making this important decision, is saying nothing publicly.

It was indicated that Underwood would make the announcement this week. He said earlier that he would hold it in abeyance until after Neely's funeral, which is scheduled tomorrow in Fairmont.

Whatever the governor does, he holds great import for his own and his party's political fortunes in the years immediately ahead.

The impression is general that Underwood himself will be back in the political arena in 1960 with ambitious glances toward Washington.

But neither Underwood's friends nor old time political observers expect his judgment to be distorted by personal ambitions in picking "the best man available."

First of all, Underwood's appointee has got to survive the 1958 elections before he gets to 1960. Therefore, the party needs a strong man this fall. With two incumbents in the U. S. Senate, Republicans feel their chances in the fall elections will be somewhat improved.

Some of those close to the situation feel that Underwood would not be too stringent in expecting commitments from his appointee to the vacancy, because his administration might be put in the position of favoring only one candidate for Senate and no other.

With the field so full of candidates, this conceivably could prove embarrassing.

All this reasoning gets around again to the baldish, bustling, 45-year-old state chairman, Jack Hoblitzell.

Hoblitzell himself has said nothing beyond an inference that if the lightning strikes, he'll be there.

Some observers are quite willing to project the Republican picture into 1960: Underwood for Senate and Hoblitzell for governor. They say that's why Hoblitzell's

Fire Auxiliary Plans Carnival At Piedmont

Traffic Signs Are Authorized

PIEDMONT — Mrs. William Keyes, president of the Auxiliary of the Tri-Towns Fire Company asked permission from Mayor Rodney Baker and the city council Monday evening to hold a street carnival the week after the fire company has one.

Mayor Baker asked that the fire company and Auxiliary make application for their carnivals and thought suitable arrangements could be made.

The purchase of a new garbage truck was discussed to replace the one that was demolished January 10 when it was struck by a Baltimore and Ohio train two miles east of here. Two towns employees Daniel Ross, street superintendent and Frank Greco, were killed in the accident.

No decision has yet been reached on the purchase of the truck. Twenty traffic signs were authorized ordered by Ormond Ledlow, city clerk, following the recommendation of James Bissett, street commissioner.

It was ordered that no parking be permitted on Kenney Street between Paxton and Water Street. The street has been marked.

A letter of thanks was received from Mrs. Myrtle Greco, wife of the late Frank Greco, expressing thanks to the mayor and council for the sympathy extended since the death of her husband.

A permit was granted Carl V. Daddysman, manager of Tri-Towns Cut Rate to build a one-story addition in the rear of his place of business.

Complaints of dogs running at large were discussed.

LaSalle Trims Fort Hill, 80-52; Allegany Wins, 56-49

Explorers Cop 12th Straight Win Of Year

Outclass Sentinels Before 1,400; Dick Garlitz Scores 21

By TED TROXELL

Any doubts as to the validity of LaSalle High's claim of possessing the "number one" basketball team in the area were convincingly erased last night at Fort Hill gymnasium, where the Explorers easily turned back Fort Hill's Sentinels, 80-52, in what was expected to be the toughest test of the year for Coach George Geatz's unbeaten crew.

An estimated crowd of 1400 fans watched the Explorers notch their 12th consecutive victory of the season. The win also put LaSalle in the lead in the three-way city race. Fort Hill now shows a record of 1-1 in city play, while the Allegany Campers, who will be met by the Explorers Friday at SS. Peter and Paul gymnasium, dropped their only intra-city encounter.

The Explorers, who completely outclassed Fort Hill in every department, from the beginning, and continued to pile up the lead, as their slick passing, steady rebuilding, and flashy shooting kept the Sentinels with their backs to the wall all evening.

Van Parsons Connects

Van Parsons set the Explorers in motion with a one-hander near the foul circle, and before the quarter had reached the halfway mark, LaSalle was in front by 10 points, 11-1, the only Sentinel score being a free toss by Charlie Robinson which followed Parsons' initial field goal.

Early in the second period, Dewarren "Junior" O'Neal attempted on a pair of foul attempts to pull Fort Hill within five points, 19-14, but "Chazz" Imes and Charley Howell combined forces for four quick baskets to widen the gap to 27-14. From this point on, LaSalle began outscoring the home club nearly two to one, and the half ended with the Sentinels on the short end of a 40-21 count.

Fort Hill has won a number of its games this season by staging spectacular second half finishes, but last night's battle certainly failed to follow this pattern.

In fact, it was the Explorers who put on a sensational second half exhibition, particularly in the third quarter, when only eight of 20 field goal tries by the victorious cagers failed to locate the target.

Garlitz Top Scorer

Rich Garlitz, hustling LaSalle forward, dazzled the huge throng with his amazing shooting in the third period, hitting on seven tries from the floor in as many attempts. He added three points from the free throw line to account for 15 of the Explorers' 26 points in the stanza. Most of his field goals came on driving lay-ups.

In addition to pulling down 10 more rebounds than their opponents, 39-29, the Explorers also shot at a considerably better clip. The LaSalle quint took 71 cracks at the basket, with 29 of the attempts swishing through, for a percentage mark of .408. Fort Hill posted a below-average .273 effort, hitting on only 15 of 55 tries.

Garlitz was the individual leader in the scoring department with 21 points, followed by Fort Hill's Jerry Meeks, who caged 19 tallies. Other players who scored in double figures were Howell, 16; Parsons, 13; and Imes, O'Neal, and LaSalle's Rick Winfield, 11 each. Lineups:

Mackay Loses In Australia

SYDNEY, Jan. 21 (AP)—America's last hopes for the Australian National Tennis Singles Championship rested today on young Mike Green after the second round defeat of Davis Cup star Barry Mackay at the White City Stadium.

Green, from Miami, Fla., entered the quarter-finals with a 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4 victory over Rod Laver, Australian left-hander, and that gave him the right to play defending champion Ashley Cooper on Thursday.

Australian Roy Emerson turned back Mackay 6-4, 4-6, 9-7, 9-7 after the lanky American from Dayton, Ohio, had been given many opportunities to pull the match out of the fire.

Mackay, on whose performances officials here had hoped to boost attendance, was bitterly disappointed.

These votes are mailed to the area chairman who compiles them at the end of the season and passes them along to the national chairman for All-America selection. There are five areas in all and 55 players are selected from each area. Out of the 275 named 33 are selected by mathematical formula to fill the All-America squad.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (INS)—The much-discussed trade in which Cleveland's Ray Narleski would become a member of the New York Yankees may be made this weekend.

Lee MacPhail, assistant Yankee general manager, said today "we've been talking to Cleveland, but if anything is done it will be done at the baseball meetings in New York."

MacPhail said that Cleveland general manager Frank Lane and Yankee Manager Casey Stengel will be in New York Saturday and Sunday for the meetings and the baseball writers' dinner.

Lane, baseball's master trader and No. 1 Yankee "needler," urged the American League champs to move fast if they want his fireballing right-handed relief ace. In an early morning television show the Indian GM warned the Bombers he may do business with the Detroit Tigers if they are too slow with an offer.

Lane wants a second baseman, preferably Bobby Richardson. He also expressed interest in right-hander Jim Coates and infielder Jerry Lumpe.

The Yankee-Indian talks for Narleski date back to the winter baseball meetings in Colorado Springs, Colo., in December.

At the time, Lane was talking in terms of three-for-two packages and some of the names kicked around were Narleski and Bobby Avila of the Tribe and Richardson, third baseman Andy Carey and righthander Don Larsen of the Yankees.

"If Lane wants to make a deal I'll trade him one-for-one," Stengel declared.

Lane, in his video interview, offered the Tigers outfielder Gene Woodling, first baseman Vic Wertz, catcher Jim Hegon and pitcher Hank Aguirre for Harvey Kuenn.

Detroit's John McHale rejected this same bid at the winter meetings. At the time he requested that Don Mossi be the pitcher in the four-for-one deal—and even Lane wouldn't go for that one.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 21 (AP)—Brooks Robinson, 20-year-old third baseman of the Baltimore Orioles, has mailed in his signed 1958 contract from Cuba.

Playing for Cienfuegos in the Cuban Winter League, the youngster has hit eight home runs out of spacious Grand Stadium.

Oriole officials believe Robinson can be a big league star if he develops as a hitter. In 50 games last year he hit .239.

With George Kell retired and Billy Goodman traded since the close of the 1957 season, Robinson is in line for full time duty at third this year.

Hall Of Fame Game Is Set For Aug. 4

Generals Plan No Changes In Athletic Setup

LEXINGTON, Va., Jan. 21 (AP)—Trustees of Washington and Lee University have made it plain that the university will not return to the program of athletic subsidization abandoned in 1954.

The decision, reached at a weekend meeting in Washington, was conveyed to the W&L student body yesterday by Dr. Francis P. Gaines, president of the university.

A delegation of alumni seeking a return of subsidized football were heard by the trustees Saturday. Also considered was a student petition favoring scholarships for basketball players.

Dr. Gaines told students the attitude of the trustees is not a matter of finances or expediency, but a matter of principle upon which they think they stand.

"They do not want any boy on this campus whose primary reason for being on this campus is anything except to get an education."

W&L's football team has won only one game since the university abandoned its grants-in-aid program for sports four years ago. Only a handful of athletes who received scholarships before the subsidization program was adopted still are at the university. Four are on the basketball team.

King O' Swords With Hartack Up Wins At Hialeah

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 21 (AP)—King O' Swords, an invader from the Fair Grounds in New Orleans, romped to a six-length victory in the $6,000 Shalimar Purse today at Hialeah Park.

The $9.10 favorite of the 14.56 bettors, a recent purchase by the Joe-Anna Stable owned by Jack Johnston of Chicago, defeated Laudy Lawrence's Beau Diable. Air Wonder, representing the Dorchester Farm Stable, was a length and a half behind Beau Diable and three quarters of a length to the fore of O. S. Deming's Toby B.

King O' Swords, ridden by Bill Hartack, traveled a mile and an eighth over a sloppy track in 1:45.2. Rain descended as the race was being run and caused the race condition of the strip.

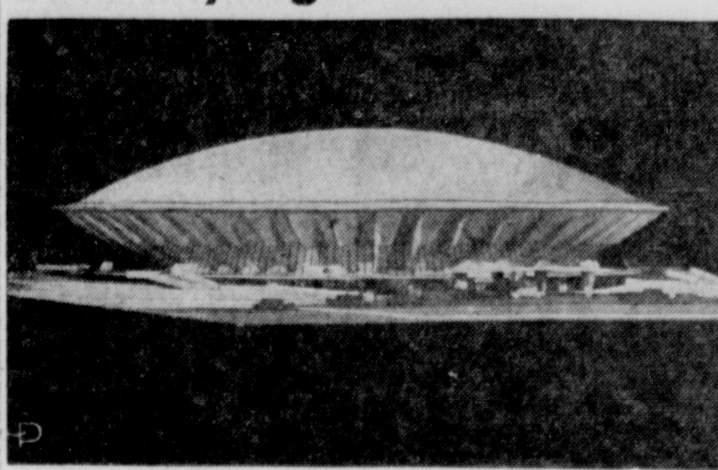

King O' Swords won his last start at the Fair Grounds, scoring in the Old Hickory Handicap. He was acquired at private terms by the Joe-Anna Stable and made his Hialeah debut in auspicious fashion.

Do Dolt and Star Chimes produced a $148.30 daily double payoff.

Illini Super-Arena For Hardwood Looks Like Flying Saucer

LOOKING like a giant flying saucer embedded in a cornfield, this is the architect's drawing of the mammoth hardwood bowl that the University of Illinois will construct.

LIFT THE DOME of Illini's super-arena for basketball and this is what you see.

CHAMPAIGN-URBANA, Ill.

The shape of things to come in great basketball arenas has emerged from the drawing boards here at the University of Illinois and will be completed by 1960. It looks like a flying saucer!

But fantastic as the plans for the $7,500,000 structure may seem, it may provide the cue for the ultimate in spectator facilities for what in the aggregate lays valid claim to being the nation's greatest spectator sport.

University officials here explain that New York architects Harrison and Abramovitz have designed the nation's largest "structure of its kind." Nobody is likely to dispute that, either, since it probably will be a while before there is another like it.

In time, however, it could become as symbolic of the booming hardwood sport as is the husky, four-turreted football stadium "built by Red Grange" in the golden '20s, a classic symbol of the gridiron pastime.

THERE is no danger that this "saucer" will take off, because the massive, concrete and steel building with one of the world's biggest domes will be embedded halfway into the rolling terrain immediately south of the Memorial stadium here.

The design was adopted so that approximately half of its projected seating capacity of 18,000 will be below ground level, immediately south of the Memorial stadium here.

roof is of the suspension type that has been suggested for the Los Angeles (erstwhile Brooklyn) Dodgers' baseball stadium when ever it gets underway.

Circling the interior at ground level will be a glass and steel enclosed concourse, 30 feet in width and about 1,100 feet around the building. The concourse is expected not only to relieve crowd pressure at events attracting a capacity house, but has possibilities for exhibits and fairs.

That is another feature of this penultimate basketball structure—it is expected to serve a hundred purposes, the traditions of that sport from the smallest hamlet's high school to the big city arenas being entirely different from football which somehow justifies great stadiums like those at Michigan, Notre Dame, and elsewhere which languidly unoccupied except for four or five fall afternoons.

FOR SPORTS the bowl will seat 18,000 basketball fans; for theater, concerts, ballet, or symphony a unique stage and curtaining arrangement will afford an auditorium arena with a cut-down 4,600 capacity; for student convocations, commencement exercises, or speeches, capacity can be raised to 20,000 of ever that many want to come for those purposes.

Already the university's fathers have caught a few brickbats from over-zealous critics asking sarcastically if this is their idea that approximately half of its projected seating capacity of 18,000 will be below ground level, immediately south of the Memorial stadium here.

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (INS)—Many colleges which believe that an education is almost as important as football, are getting fed up with those great "builders of character" walking out on their contracts.

Capt. Slade Cutter, Navy's athletic director, voiced this growing sentiment the other day when he unloaded a blast at college authorities who try to lure a coach into breaking his contract.

Cutter had in mind the attempt of Texas A & M to induce Navy's excellent coach, Eddie Erdelatz, to accept more money down in the heart of Texas.

Many colleges are coming around to the idea that they should not offer a coach more than a one-year contract, and some are even thinking of giving no contracts.

After all, they reason, why give out a long term contract which we are obliged to honor but which the "character builders" can walk out on any time they take the notion?

It apparently never occurs to some victory-at-any-cost colleges that the coach they lure away from another school won't be any more loyal to them if somebody else's inducements are sufficient for him to leave.

Watching the performance of certain colleges over the years, one concludes that many are so tarred with the brush of pro-se-lytting, sub rosa payments to athletes and coach stealing, that they can ill afford to blow the whistle on each other.

Professional baseball, football, hockey and basketball clubs do things more openly and honestly. If one club would like to get a player, coach or manager from another club, the owners of the second club are first contacted and, if agreeable, a deal is on.

If a club does not want to part with a player, coach or manager, no other club can lure him away no matter how much money is involved.

Contracts between professional clubs and players are ironclad. They cannot be broken except by mutual consent.

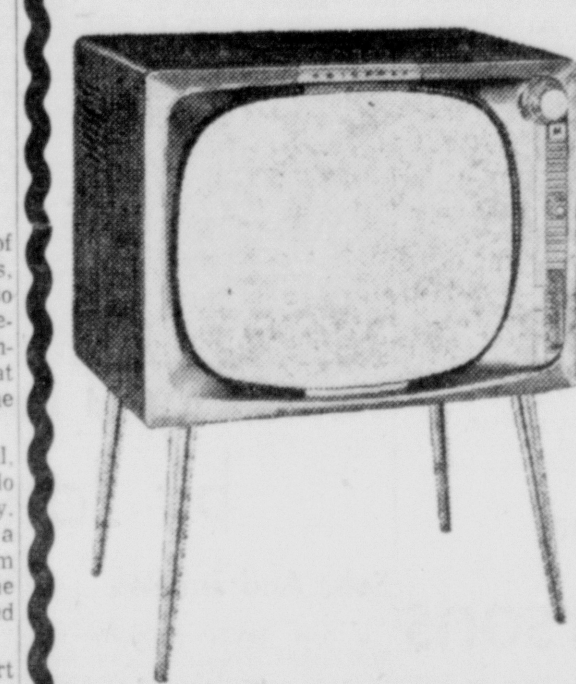

It may be that colleges let a coach get away, albeit reluctantly, because they feel he'd be use-

Legislature Adjourns For Neely Funeral

CHARLESTON, Jan. 21—The Legislature disposed of light business today, then adjourned until Thursday to permit members to attend the funeral of U. S. Sen.
Matthew M. Neely in Fairmont.

A special committee of five senators and five delegates will fly to Fairmont tomorrow morning as the Legislature's official representatives at the services.

Senate members, appointed today, include President Bean (D-Hardy), Minority Leader Carrigan
(R-Marshall), and Sens' Hedrick
(D-Marion), Carey (D-Kanawha)
and Moats (R-Ritchie).

House representatives, appointed yesterday, are: Majority Leader
Myles (D-Fayette), Minority
Leader Seibert (R-Ohio), and Dels.
Fantasia (D-Marion), Robertson
(D-Harrison) and Crynock (R-Monongalia).

Both houses adopted a resolution expressing the Legislature's "sincere mourning at the passing of this distinguished West Virginian," Sen. Neely.

The resolution said:
"The fighting spirit of this well known West Virginian kept him alert and vigilant to his duties, even to the threshold of death and despite a long illness and the suffering incident thereto."

The resolution was introduced in the House, where Neely served as clerk in 1911, by the Marion County delegation.

In a brief session this afternoon, the Senate held over until Thursday action on an assortment of eight resolutions, five of which seek permission to introduce bills outside the scope of the governor's call for this session of the Legislature.

The House, meeting this morning, passed and sent to the Senate a bill to increase from $300,000 to $450,000 the annual amount which public utilities may be assessed to pay the operating costs of the Public Service Commission. The vote was 79-11.

Both houses adjourned until 2 p.m. Thursday.

The stage was set for a familiar wet-dry floor debate at this session when the House Finance Committee gave its approval today to a bill sponsored by Del. Hubbard (R-Ohio).

The measure calls for a referendum May 6 on whether a constitutional convention should be held on the liquor-by-the-drink question. The

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"Watch it!—There's a red light!—Slow down!—Be careful of that car!"

For perfect grooming always, learn these two secrets to save trouble and time.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The Clock And The Bandbox

Good grooming seems to come naturally to the woman who's perfectly turned out at all times. It looks that way especially to the young girl who's still trying to set her standards higher — she's sure that the model of perfection didn't possibly go through half the fuss and bother it's taking her to do not nearly as well.

And there's a certain amount of truth in what the envious one thinks. Her ideal doesn't fuss and bother as much, but not because she's so mysteriously favored that she can skip details. She has two secrets her emulators must learn, and they must surely be learned by anyone who hopes to cut down good-grooming time.

For one thing, the perfectly groomed one has made grooming a habit. Everything she does to keep every beautiful hair in place, and her skin and nails and clothes in top condition, is well established as routine from which she never departs, day in and night out. Like almost everything else that is often repeated, the procedure soon goes smoothly with the least trouble. Good grooming is more easily accomplished when effort is constant rather than periodic.

Then, the bandbox smart girl takes the stitch in time to save nine. She anticipates her needs for new permanents and sets and manicures to avoid the extra difficulties that come with neglect. Before her skin shows dryness to anyone else, she goes to work on it at once. She doesn't wait for last minute treatment. She brushes her hats and coats and dresses before she puts them away, and makes repairs immediately, not in a last-minute flurry. And she's very particular about where she keeps her beauty aids and her clothes, so that they never lose their ready-to-use condition.

TOMORROW: Don't Wait.

"FIGURE FOR YOU" gives expert detailed instructions and illustrates how to select foundation garments that provide comeliness, control and healthful comfort for your individual type of figure. The bidding:
West North East South
Pass 1 diamond Pass 1 spade
Pass 1 no trump Pass 3 spades
Pass 4 spades Pass Pass

Opening lead: King of clubs.

The South of today's hand shed bitter tears over the misfortune of finding the two pivotal cards of the deal "wrongly located." Just an ounce of prevention would have rendered him safe against the unfavorable lie of the cards.

The bidding left nothing to be desired. South jumped in his six card suit after North's one no trump rebid to assure reaching game. North's king-nine now became normal trump support, which justifies his raise to four.

Had West elected to open the pack of hearts there would have been no story to tell, but lacking X-ray vision, he naturally led the king of clubs.

This was taken and trumps immediately attacked by declarer. Holding eight of the suit, he decided to finesse by leading first to the king and then back to the jack. This lost to the queen, and West, mindful of his partner's discard of the three of clubs at the first trick, shifted to the jack of hearts, and three tricks were promptly snatched in that suit.

South, bewailing his hard luck, moaned, "Partner, if the queen of spades had been right or West had tried to cash a club trick, I would have made a hand." True enough. But if declarer had been right, he could have made the hand notwithstanding.

The only danger in the hand lay in the possibility of West obtaining the lead and shifting to a heart. If West is kept out, no harm could befall declarer. He should have planned, therefore, to lose his trump trick to East.

At the second trick a low trump should be led, and when West plays low, the nine should be played from dummy. East will win with the ten, but there is no way to put his partner in to come through the king of hearts. Trumps are then drawn and two losing hearts are discarded on dummy's good diamonds.

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 21 (AP)—Few among the Dutch being evacuated from Indonesia complain of bad treatment by the Indonesians, but many say "We had no future over there." Queen Juliana at the week end welcomed the first 2,000. A total of 45,000 is expected in the next six months.

Jury Convicts Cadillac On First Count

Judge Returns Similar Verdict In Chateau Case

Holders of the liquor license for the Cadillac Liquor Store, Inc., on North Mechanic Street were found guilty of selling alcoholic beverages to three 19-year-old local girls last June 11 by an Allegany County Circuit Court jury which deliberated more than 90 minutes yesterday afternoon.

The jury of eight men and four women on which Robert D. Peebles of Lonaconing served as foreman, specifically found the Cadillac license holders guilty of the first count of the indictment, selling to minors, and not guilty of the third count, allowing minors to loiter on premises where alcoholic beverages are sold.

Chief Judge George Henderson, who presided at the trial which began Monday afternoon, had dismissed the second count of the indictment which charged that the minors were furnished alcoholic beverages. He said there was not sufficient evidence to show that they had been given drinks at the Cadillac without charge.

Licensees Fined $500

Immediately after the verdict was announced about 4 p. m., Judge Henderson asked Hugh McMullen, one of the defense attorneys, if his clients had anything to say before sentence was passed. When he replied in the negative, Judge Henderson imposed a $500 fine plus costs and ordered the defendants held until the fine is paid.

Named in the indictment were Jane R. Molinari, John L. Farrin and William D. Trozzo, in whose names the license was issued. However, Frank Molinari, who operates the Cadillac, wrote out the check for $500 to pay the fine.

When the jury verdict was announced, Judge Henderson then instructed the court clerk, Joseph E. Boden, to open the envelope in which the judge had sealed his verdict in the case against the liquor license holders for Al's Chateau, Baltimore and Mechanic streets, heard Monday. Judge Henderson did not wish his decision in the Al's Chateau case to influence the jury hearing the similar charge against the Cadillac.

Found Same Verdict

It was discovered that Judge Henderson had found Al's Chateau license holders guilty on the same first count of selling alcoholic beverages. He had found the establishment not guilty on the second and third counts.

Judge Henderson deferred passing sentence in the case against Al's Chateau because the three holders of the liquor license, E. A. Cromwell, Daisy D. Cromwell and Dorothy J. Cromwell, were not in court yesterday afternoon. He will pass sentence in their case at a later date.

Eight witnesses were heard yesterday before the opposing attorneys rested their cases and presented their closing argument to the jury.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher and his assistant, James S. Getty, first called Miss Doris Ralston, row 20, to the witness stand. The other two girls, Miss Betty Lou Pryor, still 19, and Miss Shirley Jean Ziler, now 20, testified as the trial began Monday afternoon.

Drink "Screwdrivers"

Miss Ralston testified about drinking "screwdrivers," a combination of vodka and orange juice, at the Cadillac on the night of June 11. She also contradicted testimony she had given the previous day in the Al Chateau case when she said yesterday that County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya had made no threats when they were questioned at the state's attorney's office June 12.

Other state witnesses yesterday were Police Sgt. James W. Brown and Officer Frank R. Bohn, who arrested Miss Pryor on three driving charges at Baltimore and Liberty streets. It was after this arrest that the girls told about drinking at the two downtown establishments.

County Investigator Lilya was the final state witness.

Then Edward J. Ryan, who was the chief defense attorney, called Robert B. Thomas, court reporter, as the first defense witness. Mr. Thomas was asked to read the testimony Miss Ralston gave in the case against Al's Chateau the previous day in which she said that Mr. Lilya had threatened to take away the Pryor girl's children if the girls did not cooperate.

Although Mr. Thomas has been sitting through virtually all court trials in Allegany County Circuit Court the past eight years, he said it was the first time he had been called to the witness stand to read testimony of the previous day.

Women Demos Endorse Bruce For U.S. Senate

Group Expected To Back Tawes

BALTIMORE, Jan. 21 (AP)—James Bruce, candidate for Democratic nomination to the U. S. Senate in Maryland's May 20 primary, tonight received his first formal endorsement from a city political group.

Women Democrats Inc.—composed of business and professional women and housewives—announced it will back the former ambassador to Argentina.

It was the first group endorsement of Bruce since both major Democratic factions in Carroll County, his home territory, came out for him last year.

A resolution approved by the executive board of the women's group said the organization was convinced "the candidacy of the Hon. James R. Bruce is a spontaneous one, highly refreshing to the intelligent electorate."

The resolution said the group also was convinced "that his candidacy will have a special meaning for and make a direct appeal to the women voters of Maryland, the mothers and potential mothers who are extremely sensitive to the ever increasing problems of a troubled world."

The club is headed by Mrs. John A. Meyer, Democratic congressional committeewoman and wife of a former congressman from the all-Baltimore Fourth District.

Mrs. Meyer, one of Maryland's most active Democratic women workers, was a 1956 senatorial campaign worker for George P. Mahoney, one of Bruce's opponents in this fight.

She said the decision to back (Continued on Page 8, Col. 5)

Mineral County Jury Returns 10 Indictments

Recommends Tavern Be Investigated

The Mineral County Grand Jury returned 10 indictments yesterday in a day-long session which closed at 5:30 p. m. The group also made two recommendations on additional cases brought before the body.

Felony indictments were returned against Arthur P. Helmick, alias Pat Helmick, who was charged with stabbing and wounding Mary Cosner; James Clarence Cox, who was charged with setting fire to a frame barn owned by John Arnold and adjacent to the Arnold residence; Wilbur Riggelman, who was charged with felonious and malicious assault upon Eugene Riggelman.

The grand jury returned two indictments against Robert C. Shaffer, a felony and a misdemeanor, and two indictments against James H. Taylor, both felonies.

Shaffer was charged with the theft of automobile tires and tubes belonging to Justin J. Pressnell and valued at $143. The misdemeanor charge was the malicious destruction of copper wire belonging to the Western Maryland Railway Company.

The indictments against Taylor were for malicious and felonious assault upon Louis F. Yeager and for throwing a stone through a window of a railroad diesel engine occupied by Mr. Yeager.

Two misdemeanor indictments were returned against Dailey Woodrow Shockey for driving an automobile under the influence of alcohol and for operating a car on a suspended driver's license.

A misdemeanor indictment was placed against Loren W. Bosley for contributing to the delinquency of a minor child.

The grand jury recommended that the business operation of Miss Vida Myrtle Zacob, known as Stucco Tavern, be made the subject of a State Police investigation with regard to the sale of beer to a minor under 18 years of age. The information is to be forwarded to the state beer commissioner for his action together with the jury's recommendation that the tavern's beer license be revoked.

The jury also recommended that the cases of George W. Shaw, charged with assault of Ronald Rawlings and assault of Delphia Gardner, and George W. Shaw, charged with assault of Ruby Rawlings, be considered cases of assault and battery and be referred to a justice of the peace.

At the conclusion of the lengthy session Judge Ernest A. See thanked the jury panel for its work and then cautioned its members to be careful on the icy highways while returning to their homes.

In another case handled before Judge See, the jurist remanded an Elk Garden man to the Mineral County Jail in Keyser for failure to answer several questions asked by the judge.

The man, Henry T. Arnholt, was taken before Judge See on a contempt of court charge for failure to pay court costs and attorney fees in a divorce case in 1957.

During the hearing, while Arnholt's background was being reviewed, it was mentioned he had been shot and had undergone skin grafts.

Judge See asked when, where and by whom he had been shot, but Arnholt refused to answer, saying it had nothing to do with the case.

When asked again by Judge See, Arnholt said, "I won't answer the question." He was then ordered committed to the County Jail.

Family Stricken By Fumes At Home In Barton

Carbon Monoxide Escapes From Heater

Poisonous carbon monoxide gas fumes escaping from a water heater in the basement of a home in Barton were blamed for the illness of three members of the Paul Johnson family early yesterday.

A Piedmont physician was called during the early morning hours when Mrs. Johnson became alarmed over the condition of her husband and 11-year-old son.

Mrs. Johnson said while she was doing the family wash Monday night in the basement her husband and son were playing a game of darts.

After she went upstairs they decided to remain in the cellar and continue the game. Afterwards they took a shower in the basement of the five-room home, Mrs. Johnson said.

Later in the evening Mrs. Johnson got a severe headache. Her husband became nauseated and dizzy, and decided to lie down on the davenport and rest.

Their son, also ill, decided to go to bed a little past 9 p. m. Mr. Johnson and his wife had the television set on and were watching some programs.

About 12:40 a. m. Mr. Johnson got up from the davenport and went to the bathroom, where he fainted.

Mrs. Johnson said that about 3:05 a. m. yesterday her son got up, still complaining of being sick. At the same time her husband awakened and again fainted.

Alarmed, Mrs. Johnson called a Piedmont physician who treated the family, blaming carbon monoxide fumes from the heater for their illness.

Mrs. Johnson said there hadn't been any pipe attached to the heater to carry off the fumes. However, she said, a pipe was placed on the heater yesterday.

Brotemarkle Bids Low On Rt. 40 Job

Two Local Firms Seek 0.98-Mile Project

The S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company of Cumberland yesterday submitted the low bid of $363,810.20 for the improvement of 0.98 mile of Route 40, from Route 36 toward Long, according to G. Bates Chaires, District 6 engineer.

The other bid, for $370,634.15, was submitted by the Cumberland Contracting Company of this city.

Bids for the project, the second in Allegany County to be advertised this year, were opened yesterday in Baltimore by the State Roads Commission.

Specifications call for grading the stretch of Route 40 along the present line, installation of a storm water drainage system, concrete curb and gutter and surfacing with blacktop. The highway also will be widened.

The storm water drainage system called for in the plans is extensive and is designed to meet the special drainage problem caused by water from Haystack Mountain during heavy rains.

The Cumberland Contracting Company was the low bidder, at $779,305.56, last week for the construction of a 1.83-mile stretch of the Cumberland Thruway from the Everts Creek Bridge on Route 51 to Crawford Street in Cumberland.

To be opened February 11 are bids for the construction of the Flintstone link of Route 40, between the completed Martin Mountain project and the Polish Mountain contract, which is to be completed this year.

Former Navy Men Re-enlist Here

Both men were sent to the receiving station in Washington for assignment. They enlisted for a period of four years. Snyder had previously served from February 29, 1956 through December 16, 1957 and went into active duty through the Naval Reserve. Emerick was in the service from March 27, 1952 to March 21, 1956, Chief Scarborough said.

Beall Opposes Closing Of VA At Hagerstown

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Sen. Beall (R-Md.) said today closing the Veterans Administration office in Hagerstown would work a "great hardship among many of our 40,000 veterans in Western Maryland."

He noted in a statement that VA orders issued Dec. 12 but never made public call for deactivating the center not later than Feb. 14.

Beall said he wrote to Veterans Administrator Sumner G. Whitier, saying "I am astonished that the VA has not accorded these veterans an opportunity to protest, or to present their side of the story in a public hearing. Indeed—up to now—they have not even been notified."

The senator said that a VA official here indicated the closing might be delayed a few weeks at the suggestion of R. G. Brown, acting VA regional manager at Baltimore. Brown had suggested holding up the deactivation until the end of February.

The Hagerstown office employs two persons, one clerical and the other a contact representative. Brown explained in Baltimore today that there wasn't enough business at the Hagerstown branch to justify keeping it open.

There is another VA branch at Cumberland, which also has a clerk and contact representative.

He said he has been advised the trees will be planted mechanically with equipment capable of planting five acres in a day.

It is designed to increase the yield of the 64 square miles of watershed of Lake Koon and

Fog, Freezing Rain Blanket Local Areas

Garrett County May Have Snow Today

Fog and freezing rain settled over the tri-state area last night, making travel conditions hazardous. Garrett County prepared for possible snow this morning following a shift in prevailing winds.

State Police said the freezing rain began last evening following a warm spell during the day.

State Roads Commission crews are out in Garrett County to cinder and salt the icy highways. Bad driving conditions are reported both east and west of Cumberland in the mountainous areas where fog has settled over the slippery roads.

Robert R. Golden, weather observer at Constitution Park, reported a high of 32 degrees yesterday, adding that the mercury remained steady throughout most of the day until 6 p. m. when it dropped to 31. Later, the temperature again rose to 32 about 9 o'clock.

At 6 o'clock 21 inch of rain had been recorded here, making 1.58 inches of precipitation this month.

Garrett County reported a high of 40 with an all-day rain from the east. Later in the day the weather cleared, but a shift of wind from the west brought more freezing rains and a prediction of snow. Garrett had a total of 35 inch of rainfall during the day.

West Virginia State Police at Romney reported an all-day rain there made highways wet and icy in spots, especially in the mountains. Considerable fog had settled in the mountains along with last night's freezing rainfall.

In Pennsylvania, roads were icy in spots and it was foggy in the mountains. Today's forecast is windy with rain, clearing in the morning, and possible snow flurries in the afternoon.

Fire Destroys Family's Home Near Oldtown

Damage Estimated At $10,000

An Oldtown area mother and her two small children were forced to flee into near-freezing weather yesterday when a fire destroyed their six-room home, house-hold furnishings and personal belongings.

Firemen estimated the loss at $10,000.

Flames, which apparently originated in the upper section of the two-story home, gutted the home and destroyed belongings of the John Hodel family, just off Bear Hill Road about five miles north of Oldtown.

Volunteer firemen from North Branch, who received a call about 12:30 p. m., poured approximately 1,500 gallons of water on the fire in an effort to control the flames.

Ice Delays Fire Trucks

Fire Chief L. J. Shoemaker said that when he and about 10 other volunteers arrived on the scene they found the house in flames and the roof caving in. Flames had spread throughout the house and into the basement of the building, he said.

The firefighters had to travel a distance of about 15 miles over icy highways to reach the fire and reported their two pieces of equipment, a 1500-gallon tanker and a pumper, were almost ditched twice en route.

They said Mrs. Hodel and her two children fled from the burning home after the fire was discovered. She ran to a neighbor's home for help. In the meanwhile another neighbor went to the house but the heat was too intense and he was unable to save any of the family's belongings.

Started In Roof

Chief Shoemaker said the fire apparently started in the roof and ate its way into the interior of the six-room home. The concrete block-frame residence had two rooms on the second floor and also had a basement. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Mr. Hodel, who is employed at the B&O Roundhouse here, was at work at the time of the fire. He said the family had insurance although it is not enough to cover the loss.

The Hodel family was reported to have recently purchased new furniture and a hot water tank. They were expecting to stay at the home of neighbors until they find a place in which to live.

Md. Educators Discuss Plan For College

Two officials of the State Department of Education met yesterday afternoon with the Allegany County Board of Education to discuss a 22-page report released by the state in October concerning a study of the desirability of planning public education beyond high school in Allegany County.

The chief recommendation of that report was that a two-year community-college should be established in Cumberland under the control of the county Board of Education.

That report also recommended that steps be taken as soon as practicable to bring together representatives of the Allegany County commissioners, the county Board of Education and the state Board of Education to implement the recommendations of the study.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster said Dr. David W. Zimmerman, assistant state superintendent, and Dr. Harold D. Reese, supervisor of teachers colleges business management, met with the county board yesterday afternoon.

The county superintendent said the discussions were of a general nature designed to inform the county Board of Education of the needs.

This proposed junior college would provide some college education for those who do not wish to be teachers and also would offer night classes not now available at Frostburg State Teachers College.

The state educators pointed to a growing trend for junior colleges. Hagerstown and Montgomery County have had junior colleges for several years but four new ones were established in Maryland last September. Two are in Baltimore County and the others are in Frederick and Harford counties. Others are planned to begin next September in Prince George's and Charles counties.

About a year ago, the Western Maryland section of the American Chemical Society began a campaign for the establishment of a fully-accredited four-year liberal arts college in the Cumberland area. As a result, identical resolutions were adopted by the House of Delegates and State Senate calling for the study by the State Department of Education which resulted in the October report.
